Income Tax Repealed By Small Margin

MAYOR GOODBALLET RETURNED

Entirely New Council Chosen For City

Owen Wins Contest For President

Sample, Willshaw, Duffy Elected For At-Large Positions

East Liverpool will have a totally new City Council in the 1962-63 biennium, as the last two incumbents lost their seats in the general election Tuesday, completing a clean sweep that began when six were defeated in the primaries in May.

In contrast to the present solidly-Democratic Council, including the presiding officer, the voters made it an even split between the two parties—four Republicans and four Democrats.

But the balance of power switched to the Republicans, with four voting members, as against three Democrats with the power to vote. The presiding officer's post, which has no vote except in case of a tie, remains with the Democrats.

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen, Democrat, captured the president's chair, now held by Charles N. Edwards, Democrat, whom he defeated in the May primaries. Owen won over Samuel B. Webber of Idaho Ave., the GOP nominee, who was Fourth Ward councilman in 1958-59.

Complete but unofficial totals are:

Owen	3,426
Webber	2,511

Two Republicans unseated in the Democratic "clean sweep" of Council in the 1959 election were returned to office as members-at-large while the third seat went to a Democratic newcomer who has been one of the strongest foes of city income tax measures.

Named to the at-large seats were George E. Willshaw of Idaho Ave., a Standard Oil Co. employe who previously served three terms in the same post; Robert W. Sample Jr. of McKinnon Ave., a Midland millworker who previously served four terms, and Frank Duffy of Holliday St., a Harker Pottery Co. employe and a leader in the Trades and Labor Council fight against the income tax.

In the six-way race, Sample, Willshaw and Duffy defeated William Y. Orr, a former GOP Second Ward councilman; James Moore of Lisbon St., a millworker and diner operator who ran for

Joint School District Picks New Board

An almost completely new Board of Education for the Southern - Franklin Local School district was apparently elected in Tuesday's write-in balloting, according to incomplete and unofficial returns.

Robert Skinner and Miss Ruth McNicol of Salineville and Charles Allison of near Highlandtown held top leads for three 4-year terms on the board of the recently merged district, and Mrs. Betty Rhodes of Salineville and Jack Stewart of Yellow Creek are ahead for the two 2-year terms.

Stewart was the only member of the interim board, appointed by the Columbiana County Board of Education to serve until Jan. 3, to return to the post. The interim board has not yet held an organization meeting.

The interim board includes J. B. Fergason and Martin Adams of Salineville, John Ewing of Wayne and Jack Dangelo of Franklin.

Democrats Take 8 Posts

Daugherty Tops Rose By 243 Votes In Mayor's Contest At Wellsville

Wellsville Democrats, led by their mayoralty candidate, William W. Daugherty, took eight of the 11 city offices on Tuesday's ballot, according to complete but unofficial returns.

Of the three Republicans elected, two were incumbents and one of them was unopposed. This will be the first time in eight years Wellsville has had a Democrat mayor.

Daugherty, 47, manager of his own insurance firm, easily won out by 243 votes over his Republican opponent, Wayne J. Rose, 1513 Lincoln Ave.

REPUBLICAN Mayor William J. Shoub declined to seek another term. He is serving his eighth consecutive year.

Daugherty resides at 973 Main St. A World War II veteran, he has been active in American Legion affairs, having served as post, county and division commander at various times. He is a former member of the Wellsville Board of Health, is treasurer of the Fraternal Order of Police Associates Lodge and president of the Pebco Corp.

W. W. DAUGHERTY
He'll Succeed Mayor Shoub.

He also is a past president of the Wellsville Kiwanis Club and East Liverpool Life Underwriters Association and past chairman of the Wellsville Red Cross Chapter. He is married and has two daughters.

The vote was:

Daugherty	1,287
Rose	1,044

THE DEMOCRATS won all the Council seats except in the First Ward where Dwight MacLean defeated incumbent Clarence T. Cartwright. Republican incumbent Solicitor William L. Bush was unopposed, and incumbent Treasurer Charles W. Stewart, also a Republican, won. Bush polled 1,396 token votes.

Mrs. Mary Rahter, Democrat, was returned for another term as Council president, easily winning over J. Frederick Russell, Republican and former councilman. Mrs. Rahter owns Rahter's Wallpaper Store on Main St. This will be her third term as president.

The vote was:

Mrs. Rahter	1,288
Russell	884

Stewart, 214 Wells Ave., won the treasurer's post again by a slim margin of 14 votes over Richard Kevan, 1504 Clark Ave., a Democrat and a newcomer to politics. Stewart, who is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, is a veteran politician, having served on Council and as clerk.

The count was:

Stewart	1,090
Kevan	1,076

—:—

THREE Democratic veterans won the Council-at-large seats. They are Allen C. Baldwin, 1708 Maple Ave., a former councilman and one-time mayoralty candidate, incumbent Robert E. Taggart, 1927 Chester Ave., and Donald E. Miller, 496 14th St., present Third Ward councilman. Baldwin collected the most votes, followed by Taggart and Miller.

The defeated Republicans are

Wage Levy Lacks Only 135 Votes

Best Showing Made In Fourth Test For Controversial Issue

In its fourth test at the polls Tuesday, a municipal income tax fell just 135 votes short of approval—a defeat that will cost the city at least $163,000 a year in badly-needed operating revenue.

The tax measure made by far the best showing of any of the annual tests that began in 1958. The complete but unofficial totals:

Against The Tax	3,298
For The Tax	3,163

In the vote yesterday, the electorate adopted an initiative ordinance proposed by Trades and Labor Council to repeal the tax measure which went into effect Jan. 27 after City Council passed it over the veto of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

The repeal will take effect after the County Election Board officially certifies the result of the vote. But the tax machinery probably will continue to function for the next few months, as it did after defeat of a similar measure in 1958.

That's because final tax returns must be filed by all affected individuals and business and industrial concerns. The ordinance allows a considerable lag in filing the office probably will operate well into 1962.

Only the Second Ward favored retention of the tax, but it gave it a margin that nearly overcame the opposition in the other three wards.

The second Ward cast 1,217 in favor of retaining the tax and 993 against it. In the First Ward, 837 favored abandoning the tax, with 673 voting to retain it.

The Third Ward cast 637 against the tax and 527 in favor. In the Fourth Ward, 831 voted to discard the tax, with 746 in favor of retaining it.

At the last accounting a few days ago, the tax had produced $110,000. It was set at a rate of five-tenths of one per cent, the lowest of four income tax measures. It amounts to 50 cents on each $100 of earnings or other income.

The tax is expected to bring in about $130,000 by the end of this year. In a full year, it would have produced an estimated $163,000 to $170,000.

The first tax measure in 1958 called for a rate of 80 cents on each $100. It was defeated at the polls in November 1958 in a test forced by Trades Council

Corak Leads Democrats At Midland

Presutti Has Tight Race For Position Of Tax Collector

Mayor Eli G. Corak was a "shoo-in" for a third term and other Democratic incumbents were returned to office with only one serious threat in Tuesday's election, in Midland.

Corak, who is also Beaver County Democratic chairman and a county commissioner, defeated Republican William F. Komara for the four-year post. Their vote:

Corak	1,637
Komara	829

Only a 33 - vote margin gave Democrat Rudolph (Rudy) Presutti a victory over Margaret Boston in the tight race for tax collector for four years. Their vote:

Presutti	1,257
Boston	1,224

Presutti carried only two of the five precincts, the Third Precinct with 372 votes to Miss Boston's 190 and the Fourth with 344 votes to her 214. Miss Boston won in the First, 432 to 223, in the Second, 227 to 168 and Fifth, 161 to 150.

In the other contests, the Democrats were easy winners except in the judge and inspector of election posts in the First Precinct, which went to Republicans.

Four incumbent Democratic councilmen, Steve Germusa, Joseph A. Hibbard, William (Butch) Vinovich and Harvey Sponcer, were re-elected to four-year terms over Republicans John W. Reider, Hugo C. Oberg, Louis Giovanelli and Will T. Leavell. Their vote:

Germusa	1,545

'Bert' Easy Winner By 582 Margin

Dawson And Cooper Given New Terms By Heavy Margins

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet easily won a second term in the general election Tuesday, rolling up a 582-vote margin over O. Earl Greenawalt, his Republican opponent.

The Democratic incumbent carried all four wards in defeating Greenawalt, who previously served five terms as mayor.

Complete but unofficial totals are:

Goodballet	3,480
Greenawalt	2,898

Two other veteran officials were returned. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, Democrat, was named to a sixth term, defeating Atty. Donald E. Smith, Republican. The count showed:

Cooper	3,988
Smith	2,050

Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, Republican, was named for a 10th term, defeating Mrs. Gloria M. Young of Laura Ave., the Democratic nominee. The count was:

Dawson	4,225
Young	1,885

In a listless mayoralty campaign, the incumbent pointed to his success in obtaining a sharp reduction in the city's share of the cost of the West End-California Hollow Freeway and the pledge of federal aid for a new concrete surface on outer St. Clair Ave.

Greenawalt campaigned on the theme that it was "time for a change." Neither took a public stand on the controversial city income tax issue, which had shattered many local public officeholders' careers in the past.

Goodballet won in his "home" ward, the First 931 to 562. He carried the Second 1,122 to 1,050. In the Third Goodballet scored 607 and Grennawalt was given 537. In the Fourth, it was 820 for Goodballet and 749 for Greenawalt.

Goodballet will start his second term Jan. 1. He has been in public service almost continually since the late 1930's, when he was named First Ward councilman. In addition to serving as ward councilman, he later was Council president.

Goodballet was elected to the mayor's office in 1959, defeating Fred P. Lawrence, Republican, who served one term.

Beaver Local Bond Issue Passes By 40

A proposed $253,000 school bond issue in Beaver Local School District — to provide additional classrooms for the growing student enrollment — was approved narrowly by a 40-vote margin Tuesday according to complete but unofficial returns. The vote was:

For	972
Against	932

Although eight of the 16 precincts voting in the district had margins opposing the issue, it garnered enough support in the other eight districts to pass.

Proceeds will be used to add three or four rooms and a gym-multi-purpose room at the Public School, a new library area and additional classrooms at the high

Democrats Win Big Races In New York, New Jersey

By The Associated Press

Democrats have captured both prizes in the two big elections, grinding out an upset by electing the governor in New Jersey and easily winning the New York mayoral race.

Both elections Tuesday were intently watched by politicians who regarded them as important in gauging how the political winds may blow in 1962 and 1964.

In New York, Robert F. Wagner breezed past Republican Louis J. Lefkowitz and Independent Lawrence E. Gerosa to win his third term as mayor, as had been expected.

Across the Hudson River, New Jersey voters overturned predictions and elected Democrat Richard J. Hughes over Republican James P. Mitchell in the contest for governor.

Both parties had wheeled their big guns into the New Jersey campaign. President Kennedy and former President Harry S. Truman campaigned for Hughes. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower campaigned for Mitchell.

Virginia voters followed tradition by giving Democrat Albertis S. Harrison Jr.—and the state organization of U.S. Sen. Harry F. Byrd — a one-sided victory over Republican H. Clyde Pearson in the race for governor.

The lone U. S. House seat at issue gave the Democrats another expected victory in strongly Democratic Wayne County (Detroit) Mich. Democrat Lucien N. Nedzi defeated Republican Walter Czarnecki in a special election to fill a vacancy in the First District.

Both County Levies Lose In Thumping

County Home Issue Rejected By 1,873, Expenses By 8,571

Columbiana County's two levies were given a thumping defeat in Tuesday's balloting, with the current expense levy losing about 2-to-1 and the County Home levy receiving a less severe but still fatal jolt.

Republican commissioners submitted a seven-tenths mill tax for required improvements at the home for the old folks and it lost by 1,873 votes—12,479 for and 14,352 against.

The eight-tenths mill proposal for current expenses was rejected by a margin of 8,571 votes—8,752 for and 17,323 against. Both required only a majority.

The County home levy was designed to produce $140,000 annually and the so-called "Courthouse" levy $160,000 for each of the three tax years—1961, 1962 and 1963.

Commissioners Walter Hunston and Galen Greenisen had warned that the Courthouse faced an across-the-board cut of 20 to 25 per cent if the current expense levy failed. Apparently, the voters were not convinced.

The commissioners added the budget requests for 1962 total $298,000 above anticipated revenue.

They pointed to state-ordered improvements at the County Home, including a $7,500 for a fire alarm system, $15,000 for a sewage disposal system and a $3,500 cover for the reservoir.

And commissioners lacked wholehearted support from town-

According to the complete but unofficial returns from the nine precincts, the vote was Hamilton, 1,346, and Blaner, 1,313.

Wage Levy Lacks Only 135 Votes

Best Showing Made In Fourth Test For Controversial Issue

In its fourth test at the polls Tuesday, a municipal income tax fell just 135 votes short of approval—a defeat that will cost the city at least $163,000 a year in badly-needed operating revenue.

The tax measure made by far the best showing of any of the annual tests that began in 1958. The complete but unofficial totals:

Against The Tax	3,298
For The Tax	3,163

In the vote yesterday, the electorate adopted an initiative ordinance proposed by Trades and Labor Council to repeal the tax measure which went into effect Jan. 27 after City Council passed it over the veto of Mayor Bert H. Goodballet.

The repeal will take effect after the County Election Board officially certifies the result of the vote. But the tax machinery probably will continue to function for the next few months, as it did after defeat of a similar measure in 1958.

That's because final tax returns must be filed by all affected individuals and business and industrial concerns. The ordinance allows a considerable lag in filing the office probably will operate well into 1962.

Only the Second Ward favored retention of the tax, but it gave it a margin that nearly overcame the opposition in the other three wards.

The second Ward cast 1,217 in favor of retaining the tax and 993 against it. In the First Ward, 837 favored abandoning the tax, with 673 voting to retain it.

The Third Ward cast 637 against the tax and 527 in favor. In the Fourth Ward, 831 voted to discard the tax, with 746 in favor of retaining it.

At the last accounting a few days ago, the tax had produced $110,000. It was set at a rate of five-tenths of one per cent, the lowest of four income tax measures. It amounts to 50 cents on each $100 of earnings or other income.

The tax is expected to bring in about $130,000 by the end of this year. In a full year, it would have produced an estimated $163,000 to $170,000.

The first tax measure in 1958 called for a rate of 80 cents on each $100. It was defeated at the polls in November 1958 in a test forced by Trades Council

Corak Leads Democrats At Midland

Presutti Has Tight Race For Position Of Tax Collector

Mayor Eli G. Corak was a "shoo-in" for a third term and other Democratic incumbents were returned to office with only one serious threat in Tuesday's election, in Midland.

Corak, who is also Beaver County Democratic chairman and a county commissioner, defeated Republican William F. Komara for the four-year post. Their vote:

Corak	1,637
Komara	829

Only a 33 - vote margin gave Democrat Rudolph (Rudy) Presutti a victory over Margaret Boston in the tight race for tax collector for four years. Their vote:

Presutti	1,257
Boston	1,224

Presutti carried only two of the five precincts, the Third Precinct with 372 votes to Miss Boston's 190 and the Fourth with 344 votes to her 214. Miss Boston won in the First, 432 to 223, in the Second, 227 to 168 and Fifth, 161 to 150.

In the other contests, the Democrats were easy winners except in the judge and inspector of election posts in the First Precinct, which went to Republicans.

Four incumbent Democratic councilmen, Steve Germusa, Joseph A. Hibbard, William (Butch) Vinovich and Harvey Sponcer, were re-elected to four-year terms over Republicans John W. Reider, Hugo C. Oberg, Louis Giovanelli and Will T. Leavell. Their vote:

Germusa	1,545
Hibbard	1,477
Vinovich	1,451
Sponcer	1,369
Oberg	976
Reider	968
Leavell	746
Giovanelli	673

Democrats Edward Cilli and James Morrison defeated Republicans Sam D. Zuppe and Nick

Colder Trend Brings First Snow Flurries

The first visible snow of the season left a white trace on the Tri-State District today and the Ohio weatherman said there will be more of the same tonight and Thursday with colder temperatures.

The flurries began about 7 a. m. and rural areas soon had a light accumulation but it melted in the downtown. Cars passing through had a light coating.

The Ohio weatherman said some rain might be mixed with snow but the falling temperatures will bring only flurries by late afternoon and tonight, accompanied by gusty winds.

'Bert' Easy Winner By 582 Margin

Dawson And Cooper Given New Terms By Heavy Margins

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet easily won a second term in the general election Tuesday, rolling up a 582-vote margin over O. Earl Greenawalt, his Republican opponent.

The Democratic incumbent carried all four wards in defeating Greenawalt, who previously served five terms as mayor.

Complete but unofficial totals are:

Goodballet	3,480
Greenawalt	2,898

Two other veteran officials were returned. Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, Democrat, was named to a sixth term, defeating Atty. Donald E. Smith, Republican. The count showed:

Cooper	3,988
Smith	2,050

Treasurer Bert A. Dawson, Republican, was named for a 10th term, defeating Mrs. Gloria M. Young of Laura Ave., the Democratic nominee. The count was:

Dawson	4,225
Young	1,885

In a listless mayoralty campaign, the incumbent pointed to his success in obtaining a sharp reduction in the city's share of the cost of the West End-California Hollow Freeway and the pledge of federal aid for a new concrete surface on outer St. Clair Ave.

Greenawalt campaigned on the theme that it was "time for a change." Neither took a public stand on the controversial city income tax issue, which had shattered many local public officeholders' careers in the past.

Goodballet won in his "home" ward, the First 931 to 562. He carried the Second 1,122 to 1,050. In the Third Goodballet scored 607 and Grennawalt was given 537. In the Fourth, it was 820 for Goodballet and 749 for Greenawalt.

Goodballet will start his second term Jan. 1. He has been in public service almost continually since the late 1930's, when he was named First Ward councilman. In addition to serving as ward councilman, he later was Council president.

Goodballet was elected to the mayor's office in 1959, defeating Fred P. Lawrence, Republican, who served one term.

Beaver Local Bond Issue Passes By 40

A proposed $253,000 school bond issue in Beaver Local School District — to provide additional classrooms for the growing student enrollment — was approved narrowly by a 40-vote margin Tuesday according to complete but unofficial returns. The vote was:

For	972
Against	932

Although eight of the 16 precincts voting in the district had margins opposing the issue, it garnered enough support in the other eight districts to pass.

Proceeds will be used to add three or four rooms and a gym-multi-purpose room at the Public School, a new library area and additional classrooms at the high

Ohio Voters Approve All 4 Constitutional Amendments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio voters gave resounding approval to three constitutional amendments and narrow approval to another in Tuesday's election.

With only 84 of Ohio's 13,851 polling places unreported:

Amendment No. 1, yes 1,244,047, no 644, 625. This amendment gives the Ohio Senate authority to make appointments to fill vacancies in its own membership. It provides that Senate members of the same political party as the last person elected to the vacant seat shall appoint a successor—until the next election if the vacancy occurs in the first 20 months of a four-year term and for the rest of the term if the vacancy occurs later.

Amendment No 2, yes 1,380,546, no 515,112. It means that the General Assembly will have the power and duty to pass special laws to insure the continuity of state and local governments in emergencies resulting from enemy attack.

Amendment No. 3, yes 940,172, no 934,749. Modernizes constitutional amendments regarding the militia; broadens the present 18-45 age range for membership to 17-67 and eliminates sex and color bars. Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said the vote was so close because a number of Ohioans apparently had the erroneous impression that the amendment would allow the state to "draft" 17-year-old boys and girls. The militia comes into being only when the Ohio National Guard goes on federal duty and then acts only as a "home guard."

Amendment No. 4, yes 1,156,593, no 639,674. The amendment restores to the General Assembly authority to pass laws which require the advice and consent of the Senate to major appointments by the governor. Until a recent ruling by the Ohio Supreme Court, the Senate had believed for more than a century it already had the authority.

County Approves 3 Of State Amendments

Columbiana County voters approved three of the four state amendments — rejecting the one pertaining to the state militia—according to complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's balloting. The vote:

Filling General Assembly vacancies: Yes, 14,048, No, 7,771.

State militia: Yes, 19,453, No, 11,689.

Ohio Man Found Guilty In Slaying

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Richard D. Straley, 29, of Massillon, Ohio, was found guilty of second-degree murder today. He had been charged with first-degree murder in the strangulation last June of Mrs. Ethel Bell Hart, 76, of South Salt Lake.

The jury deliberated seven hours. The state asked for a first-degree conviction and the death penalty. Second-degree carries 10 years to life.

Straley was an acquaintance of one of Mrs. Hart's sons and stopped here briefly last June. Her body was found June 22, four days after she had been choked to death with a stocking. She had been robbed.

Straley, who also used the name Richard Dale Nunn, was picked up a week later while working on a farm at Borrego Springs, Calif.

Mrs. Hart had written her son that Straley was visiting her.

Why Not An Open-Door Policy?

Chester Bowles, our well-traveled and worldly wise undersecretary of state, is developing a theme that we find fascinating.

"Some of our most respected fellow citizens are turning to isolationist thinking," he contends. He believes they are frustrated because the United States can't control the world.

Their frustration takes several forms, explains Mr. Bowles. Some are defeatist about nuclear war. They say it can't be stopped, so here goes nothing. Some are obsessed by the threat of Communism. They see Communists behind every tree. Others want to retire from world affairs and leave the future to others. These are true isolationists.

It seems to us there's still another group whose state of mind might seem to be isolationist if Mr. Bowles were describing it but which wouldn't look that way to the rest of us.

These are Americans tired of being stared out of places they never should have barged into, embarrassed about the impression their government has made in countries where taxpayers' money has been squandered, regretting the impression that the United States has tried to buy friends; that it was fat-headed enough to think it could.

These Americans long for a more rational situation in which foreign governments and populations would approach the United States for help but never would have a chance to turn down an offer of U.S. help or abuse U.S. help because the initiative always would have to come from them.

Washington would respect their dignity and be equally solicitous of its own dignity.

There would be a sudden, crashing end to the kind of intervention that has been likened to entering a bathroom without knocking on a closed door.

To interventionists this would look like a return to isolation.

To most Americans it would look like a return to self-respect and a semblance of the respect for the amenities.

Those of us not so well-traveled and worldly wise as Mr. Bowles have not been surprised when our government was parted from our money in many places. Fools and their money always get parted — so do governments and taxpayers' money, if the governments are foolish. We asked for it.

If the American people are in danger of reverting to isolation, it is something for all of us to worry about.

But if they are getting back on a sure footing of telling the world their door is open to all who are willing to help themselves, Mr. Bowles shouldn't be confused about the symptoms. He might think self-respect was actually a return to isolationism —that people who knock on closed bathroom doors are acting like hermits.

Nuclear Credo

For Want Of A Policy

There is nothing useful about getting a red neck because other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have pursed their diplomatic lips over the recent Berlin "border incidents."

They thought it was needlessly risky for the United States to uphold the right of entry into East Berlin for officials in or out of uniform and said so to representatives of the U.S. Mission at the Atlantic Council in Paris. The effect was to cool down the "border incident" fever that at one time had U.S. tank gunners aiming point-blank at U. S. S. R. tanks and vice versa.

But while things were cooling down in Berlin, tempers were heating up in the United States. There was talk that sounded as if the United States and the Soviet Union might be facing off in Berlin as if it were a private battleground, instead of a city jointly occupied by four governments.

And, unspoken, there was another surge of misgiving about the absence of policy on Berlin and Germany.

Nothing but trouble was to have been expected in a standoff that left the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France jointly responsible for Berlin and Germany with no agreement on what they intended to do.

They marked time and waited for something to turn up. What turned up first was a blockade of Berlin in 1948-1949. Thereafter, Berlin was like an exposed nerve in a broken tooth. Whenever the Kremlin needed to create a diversion, it touched the nerve.

It was able to do this because the Western Allies neglected the tooth. They could agree neither to a plan for staying in Berlin or a plan for getting out; the latter would have meant a peace treaty with Germany.

The best they could do was to set up a friendly government in West Germany, thereby compounding the confusion caused by Russia's decision to set up an unfriendly government in East Germany. But that was not a policy; it was a reaction.

There still is no policy.

When the United States got tough over its right of entry, its allies wondered what it was getting ready to do, because they'd be part of it, whatever it was.

It was a good question. The United States does not know what it will do, except to stand pat while explaining to its allies that something is bound to turn up eventually to get all of them off the hook. They don't know what they will do, either.

Civilization's Built-In Death Trap

From now until Spring, civilization's built-in death trap is sprung and ready to claim its victims.

The trap is the widely known but widely disregarded fact that where there's heat there's the possibility of death from carbon monoxide gas.

Where there's a heater in an automobile there's the possibility of carbon monoxide gas from the engine that generates the heat, especially if the car has been stopped and the engine left running.

Where there's a heater of any kind in a house there's a possibility of carbon monoxide asphyxiation if the heater has not been properly vented. Under no circumstances should a heater be used with no vent at all.

Even a furnace cannot be called safe unless it is checked periodically. Like mufflers and exhaust pipes on cars, furnace flues and jackets rust and corrode. A hole that lets combustion fumes escape can be fatal. One of the ingredients is carbon monoxide gas.

All this is known; everybody knows it. Yet, every year at the beginning of cold weather, fatalities occur. Every year when the temperature plunges and there is urgent necessity for extra heat, people take chances with carbon monoxide poisoning because they never have understood the danger.

Carbon monoxide gas generated by combustion combines with hemoglobin in the blood to expel oxygen, and life without oxygen is impossible.

Where there's heat there's carbon monoxide gas, and where there's a concentration of carbon monoxide gas there's death.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

With Asiatic neutralist chosen secretary general of U. N. and neutral nations exceeding voting power of our side in peace organization, the Western world is wide open to taunt: "Your slip is showing."

The organization, upon which our side depends so much, has to take Burma Road to "reach" Moscow, Washington, London, Cairo, Viet Nam, Berlin and all trouble centers in Africa and South America.

U. Thant, who succeeds Hammarksjold, immediately named Russian and American as consultants and will name four or five more to represent various parts of globe.

This looks like expecting a fire chief to wait for approval of board of fire commissioners before turning on the hydrant. Soviet lost "troika" but got a sextette.

Thant looks like a strong peace worker, but he may need asbestos suit, Blue Cross coverage, an iron helmet, a year's supply of bandages and a code call for help when battle with his kibitzers gets hotter than world battle he is trying to prevent. (Maybe it will be necessary to name a secretariat to keep peace within secretariat.)

When you get four or five men in secretary general's lineup you are coming close to hiring a wrecking crew. Such a group means prolonged debates, threats of walkouts and constant complaints of backfield in motion.

Meeting in a grave crisis can be foreseen: "I have prepared a report on this crisis and reached a conclusion steps to preserve peace," secretary general will say; "I assume that, as you gentlemen have been in on all our discussions, you will agree."

"I support your conclusions but am putting on my football helmet for further arguments," says one deputy. "I object to approval of your decision without a schedule of debates. I signed up for the duration of the peace," says another.

"I veto the vote," says Soviet member.

"There has been no vote," says Mr. Thant.

"I know it. I am getting in a veto ahead of time for whatever the issue is," thunders Russia.

"You can't stockpile vetoes," warns chief.

"Wanna bet?" demands Soviet man.

Here a man speaks up saying "I demand a shorter United Nations season, with a limit on double headers and fewer night games." The meeting is adjourned because of fog.

CHIMPANZEE which can paint had own art show in New York and deposited $5,000 in bank. Our information is that it then issued an ultimatum, "Not another painting from me until I get paid in bananas."

Secret Service warns of counterfeit $10 bills and urges careful inspection. Don't be silly; no $10 bill lasts long enough for more than a fleeting glance.

Standard Oil of New Jersey just tacked a nickel onto quarterly dividend. It was difficult getting a kick out of this while reading the news at a gasoline station.

U. Thant, new U.N. secretary general gets $20,000 salary, $20,000 expense money and life pension of $10,000. Yes, but no double indemnity for combat injuries.

SEC announces new rules curbing routines of stock market investment advisers. No ad referring to stocks which made big gains through brokerage house advice will be permitted unless it also gives list of recommended stocks that declined. Use of charts to boost stocks will be curbed.

This will make countless stock market players sore. They regard it as constitutional right to be confused.

Caution Urged On Shelter Plans

By Victor Riesel

COLUMBUS, OHIO

This country's cave-consciousness is nothing compared to what the military airmen at Columbus call the "shelter shivers" which has developed since N. S. Khrushchev innovated his bombastic diplomacy.

Victor Riesel

These shelter-shivers are shaking the public out of scores of millions of dollars today — at a moment when even the Pentagon does not yet know what makes an effective refuge or even how to stock it.

The message from the military is wait until you know what to build — wait at least until the first of the year. That too is the word from the general contractors, the construction unions and most other experts.

Right now the Pentagon is working as swiftly as it can, but from the bottom up. Its Army Engineer Corps is compiling a national listing of facilities which could be quickly turned into shelters now.

The engineers are taking a census of all tunnels and underpasses, subways, underground storage facilities, and subterranean quarters built for other purposes such as double and triple-level garages and engine rooms.

These listings will be broken down into available "immediate" space in each part of the country. Presumably, then, methods of adapting them to potential shelters will be devised.

MEANWHILE, the man on whom it all rests, Defense Secretary McNamara, is pushing his people so they can get up the definitive shelter standards by New Year's.

No easy task this, the decision being a matter of more than construction — there is emotion, too.

Talking to a mutual friend recently, McNamara indicated that he wanted the first mass shelters to be built under or alongside the nation's schools. If there are to be survivors, he said, let the children live through it. No sense sending them home if the warnings come. They might find no one there anyway.

This dove tailed with what the building and construction members of the Associated General Contractors reported at their recent board meeting in New Orleans. They discussed a survey just made in Wilmington, Del.

Private shelters there would be useless most of the time, it was learned. The husband in an average family would be away much of the time in his office or factory. The wife would be shopping or out of doors somewhere. The children would be in school.

If there is to be concentration on private shelters, therefore, the people would be covered only for part of the evening and night.

FURTHERMORE, the contractors heard that the most effective shelters now cost as much as $40,000 - $50,000 dollars. This by-passes the average family. Of course none of this takes into consideration the big cities and factories themselves.

The contractors then decided to wait for studies by the American Institute of Architects, the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Army Engineers Corps, all now studying shelter standards.

At the same time the contractors' organization is policing itself and its industry. It has lashed out at the "infiltrators and opportunists" who are mulcting a boom market now, cashing in on hysteria by selling anything from big tanks sunken into the ground to lush concrete outhouses which couldn't survive a baby tornado.

Another expert now urging folks to bide their time, at least 'till the year's end, is Director Leo Perlis of the AFL-CIO Community Service Activities Dept.

HE IS THE VETERAN, for he has been studying shelter problems ever since the Korean War. His task is to advise some 13 million people — and he too has an emotional as well as a structural problem with which to wrestle.

There are those inside labor who argue that to support a massive shelter program means whipping up warmongering and inviting a Soviet bomb attack.

The argument is that Khrushchev will note that we are planning to take to man-made caves and will interpret that as the forerunner of an American assault on the U.S.S.R. and will in turn hit first.

Perlis' retort is that life insurance doesn't kill anybody and shelters won't provoke war.

He is not opposed to private shelters — once the standards are set. But labor knows that the basic problems are mass survival and mass production. Shelters must be communitywide and the big plants must plan to house their people so work can roll on.

TIED IN WITH THIS is approval of the Defense Department's tagging of 2,000 hospitals as key survival aid centers—with another 1,000 about to be "prepositioned." Add to this the stockpiling of food in special areas and that's the best we can do for the moment.

Despite the "shivers," none of the experts will sponsor any shelter until the Pentagon releases its definitive message.

Don't take to the caves, or the crooks either. Just hold tight for another 90 days. We'll make it.

Terror And Tirana

By Margeruite Higgins

At an unknown hour at an unknown date sometime in the last six to eight months, a momentous event took place in the obscure Eastern European town of Tirana that ought profoundly to shake the world's overawed assessment of Moscow's power.

This was the moment when Premier Khrushchev's senior military official in Tirana was politely but firmly "requested" by Albania's Premier Enver Hoxha to pack up the Russian submarines, then nestling menacingly in specially built pens on Albania's Adriatic coast, and take them back to the Soviet motherland.

More important, when the Kremlin, the mighty master of outer space and 200 million people, got the word from Tirana, the masters of a few submarine pens and a mere million and a half Albanians, the Kremlin did what it was told. The Red submarines departed the Adriatic.

RED CHINA may have been Albania's silent ally. But Red China is nonetheless far far away from the Adriatic.

So there are lessons to be learned from the fact that this tiny Communist country, inserted between Yugoslavia and Greece (and therefore geographically removed from the Soviet satellites) could tell Mr. Khrushchev where to get off and get away with it.

The point is worth making that at the same time that Mr. Khrushchev was in fact doing tiny Albania's bidding, he was at a peak of rocket rattling, telling the British ambassador, for one, that Russia could wipe England off the map with just nine hydrogen bombs.

All this bluster of course was aimed in great part at the tiny nations of the world, many of which Mr. Khrushchev has in fact temporarily brainwashed into a state of fearing to say or do anything displeasing to Moscow's ear.

But not Albania. Indeed, apart from the Soviet submarine episode, which for a time was semi-secret and hard for the West to get a propaganda handle on, Albania's public attack on the person and ideology of Mr. Khrushchev is without parallel in the history of Bolshevism.

Albania's action was, of course, a retort to Mr. Khrushchev. He started it by accusing Albanians like Gen. Hoxha of being Stalinist mainly, the record shows, because Gen. Hoxha inconveniently declined to purge himself at the time when Mr. Khrushchev demanded it.

But the Albanian Communist party's abuse not only went farther in counterattack than Mr. Khrushchev had in his initial assault, but also laid down a declaration of political warfare, challenging the Kremlin's right to lead the world Communist movement.

Never before in history has a foreign Communist party publicly and explicitly challenged Moscow (the Chinese, for instance, have never done so) on these terms. Never before has a foreign Communist party challenged Russia for being too far to the right. And never before has a foreign Communist party proclaimed that it will continue the battle and try and get recruits for its heretical wing of the party.

THIS ASIDE from calling Khrushchev a "liar", a "slanderer," a "right wing deviationist," a "bully," and a "blackmailer," the Albanian Communist party declared: "Our party will by means of facts and documents make known to the whole international Communist and workers movements and all international public opinion the whole truth about our relations with the Soviet Communist party and will unmask Nikita Khrushchev. . . we will win because we are not alone. . ."

This naked Albanian appeal to the world Communist movements to join their revolt against Moscow is unlikely to give Mr. Khrushchev any sleepless nights of worry over massive European defection from his ranks. His decision to pay the price of disciplining Albania was no doubt based on the judgment that this was necessary to consolidate his hold elsewhere.

Albania is no more a threat to Russian than say Cuba is to the United States. But even as Cuba demonstrated the self-imposed limitations on Washington's willingness to use its great power, so has Albania proved that Moscows can in certain circumstances be equally inhibited.

If Albania's defiance of Moscow is successful, it will hold great significance for all potential targets of Mr. Khrushchev's periodic rocket rattling terror tactics. Tirana today, Peiping tomorrow?

Tax Reform Due

By David Lawrence

U.S. Economy Needs Long Range Stimulus

In athletics the slogan is "keep your eye on the ball." Right now the key to what is happening in America—the "ball"—is the unemployment figure which, instead of dropping, seems to remain the same and gives some sign of rising.

David Lawrence

Total employment is going up these days — which means newcomers in the wage force are being absorbed to as large an extent as possible—but the percentage of unemployed out of the whole civilian working population nevertheless stays about the same. It's around 7 per cent and may go up further during the winter.

Why is the unemployment problem not being solved? The answer heard on every side is that large as well as small companies in the United States find themselves in a wage-price squeeze that is unprecedented in American history.

Sellers wouldn't hesitate to increase their prices if they thought buyers would order their goods but there's a limit to the heights to which prices can be pushed at certain intervals.

Unfortunately, on the other hand, the labor unions in their self-centered approach keep increasing costs. They do not seem to place any limit on the wage increases they feel they can extort by means of the threat of strikes or by actually calling strikes that prove very costly to the employers.

As a percentage of gross national product, corporate profits after taxes have declined from 5.8 per cent in 1955 to 4.5 per cent in 1960, according to the November monthly bank letter of the First National City Bank of New York, just released.

This is a startling fact but even more so are the measures being taken by business to restore the profit level. Not only is every form of labor-saving device being utilized—which again produces more unemployment, at least temporarily—but companies that ought to be building new plants and replacing more of their equipment do not have the capital or are reluctant to do so in view of the uncertain conditions that lie ahead.

The drive is on today to make as many economies as possible so as to earn profits on a basis that will attract investors and lenders of capital.

WHAT AMERICAN business needs is not a temporary stimulus but long-range encouragement. The secretary of labor, Arthur Goldberg, apparently recognizes that something is wrong, as he comments on the latest unemployment figures:

"It is disturbing that the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate remains at 6.8 per cent. This underscores that we have a stubborn and continuing problem."

But in the U.S. Department of Commerce figures is the key to the problem. They show that, out of the approximately 4 million unemployed today, more than 38 per cent have been working in the construction and manufacturing industries. This includes the primary metal industries, fabricated metal products, machinery, electrical equipment, transportation equipment.

The "heavy goods" industries are the ones hardest hit by the recession of last year but they have also been victims in previous years of a frustration growing out of the government's long neglect of tax reform in the field of depreciation allowances for new plant and equipment.

THE GOVERNMENT can't lose taxes in the long run on any depreciation plan. But what's important is the period of years designated as the life of each kind of equipment. That's what the whole controversy is about. The National City Bank letter makes a good point in this connection, as follows:

"It is a pity that the fiscal policy formula for getting the nation out of a mild recession was so concentrated on stimulating government spending and so neglectful of tax reforms which—if the experience following the 1954 tax reductions is any guide—could have done more lasting good by reinvigorating business enterprise."

Is the administration going to drift along on the matter of tax reform or take action to stimulate American enterprise by an equitable tax system?

The session of congress which begins in January can do much to restore confidence among businessmen and encourage them to increase their purchases of new plant and equipment. Already, however, the estimated figures for capital goods outlays in 1962 are being reduced, and the same frustration seems to have set in.

THE ONLY WAY out now is for tax reforms to be put into effect promptly so that volume of sales can begin to grow without any substantial increases in price.

An era of price stability would bring prosperity so far as corporate profits are concerned but unless volume goes up, too, the unemployment figures will rise.

This was the experience of the New Deal in the 1930s. It spent money on many projects but ignored the heavy goods field. Only the outbreak of World War II in 1939—when, after seven years of the New Deal, 9.4 million or 17 per cent were still unemployed—saved the day for the Democratic administration. It is to be hoped that neither the threat of war nor war itself—with increased spending for defense—will again furnish the only remedy.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I believe we owe sympathy to the befuddlers who keep barking conflicting advice about civil defense. It isn't their fault they sound like girls fighting bumblebees but the fault of the confusion in which we must live indefinitely because of inability to balance the power in an era when nuclear energy has become what the revolver was in the Old West —the equalizer.

Having put off the roundup as long as the nice weather permitted, I finally separated the sheep last Sunday and at this writing am still so stiff in the arms and shoulders I wince. The next big event in the sheep barn is scheduled for the last week of February — spring lambing. If Winter comes, Spring won't be far away.

I yield to no one in my confidence that America has the best of all possible political systems. But I am saddened during campaigns by the candidates' unflattering appraisal of the mentality of voters. Most campaigning, in my opinion, is an insult to the intelligence of children.

Without intending to be grisly about it, those California fires give you an idea what the worst part of nuclear warfare would be for survivors of the blast itself —fire storms that would bake everything underground like potatoes buried in the ashes of a campfire.

Why Not An Open-Door Policy?

Chester Bowles, our well-traveled and worldly wise undersecretary of state, is developing a theme that we find fascinating.

"Some of our most respected fellow citizens are turning to isolationist thinking," he contends. He believes they are frustrated because the United States can't control the world.

Their frustration takes several forms, explains Mr. Bowles. Some are defeatist about nuclear war. They say it can't be stopped, so here goes nothing. Some are obsessed by the threat of Communism. They see Communists behind every tree. Others want to retire from world affairs and leave the future to others. These are true isolationists.

It seems to us there's still another group whose state of mind might seem to be isolationist if Mr. Bowles were describing it but which wouldn't look that way to the rest of us.

These are Americans tired of being stared out of places they never should have barged into, embarrassed about the impression their government has made in countries where taxpayers' money has been squandered, regretting the impression that the United States has tried to buy friends; that it was fat-headed enough to think it could.

These Americans long for a more rational situation in which foreign governments and populations would approach the United States for help but never would have a chance to turn down an offer of U.S. help or abuse U.S. help because the initiative always would have to come from them.

Washington would respect their dignity and be equally solicitous of its own dignity.

There would be a sudden, crashing end to the kind of intervention that has been likened to entering a bathroom without knocking on a closed door.

To interventionists this would look like a return to isolation.

To most Americans it would look like a return to self-respect and a semblance of the respect for the amenities.

Those of us not so well-traveled and worldly wise as Mr. Bowles have not been surprised when our government was parted from our money in many places. Fools and their money always get parted — so do governments and taxpayers' money, if the governments are foolish. We asked for it.

If the American people are in danger of reverting to isolation, it is something for all of us to worry about.

But if they are getting back on a sure footing of telling the world their door is open to all who are willing to help themselves, Mr. Bowles shouldn't be confused about the symptoms. He might think self-respect was actually a return to isolationism —that people who knock on closed bathroom doors are acting like hermits.

Nuclear Credo

For Want Of A Policy

There is nothing useful about getting a red neck because other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have pursed their diplomatic lips over the recent Berlin "border incidents."

They thought it was needlessly risky for the United States to uphold the right of entry into East Berlin for officials in or out of uniform and said so to representatives of the U.S. Mission at the Atlantic Council in Paris. The effect was to cool down the "border incident" fever that at one time had U.S. tank gunners aiming point-blank at U. S. S. R. tanks and vice versa.

But while things were cooling down in Berlin, tempers were heating up in the United States. There was talk that sounded as if the United States and the Soviet Union might be facing off in Berlin as if it were a private battleground, instead of a city jointly occupied by four governments.

And, unspoken, there was another surge of misgiving about the absence of policy on Berlin and Germany.

Nothing but trouble was to have been expected in a standoff that left the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France jointly responsible for Berlin and Germany with no agreement on what they intended to do.

They marked time and waited for something to turn up. What turned up first was a blockade of Berlin in 1948-1949. Thereafter, Berlin was like an exposed nerve in a broken tooth. Whenever the Kremlin needed to create a diversion, it touched the nerve.

Caution Urged On Shelter Plans

This country's cave-consciousness is nothing compared to what the military airmen at Columbus call the "shelter shivers" which has developed since N. S. Khrushchev innovated his bombastic diplomacy.

These shelter-shivers are shaking the public out of scores of millions of dollars today — at a moment when even the Pentagon does not yet know what makes an effective refuge or even how to stock it.

Albania's action was, of course, a retort to Mr. Khrushchev. He started it by accusing Albanians like Gen. Hoxha of being Stalinist mainly, the record shows, because Gen. Hoxha inconveniently declined to purge himself at the time when Mr. Khrushchev demanded it.

But the Albanian Communist party's abuse not only went farther in counterattack than Mr. Khrushchev had in his initial assault, but also laid down a declaration of political warfare, challenging the Kremlin's right to lead the world Communist movement.

Never before in history has a foreign Communist party publicly and explicitly challenged Moscow (the Chinese, for instance, have never done so) on these terms. Never before has a foreign Communist party challenged Russia for being too far to the right. And never before has a foreign Communist party proclaimed that it will continue the battle and try and get recruits for its heretical wing of the party.

THIS ASIDE from calling Khrushchev a "liar", a "slanderer," a "right wing deviationist," a "bully," and a "blackmailer," the Albanian Communist party declared: "Our party will by means of facts and documents make known to the whole international Communist and workers movements and all international public opinion the whole truth about our relations with the Soviet Communist party and will unmask Nikita Khrushchev. . . we will win because we are not alone. . ."

This naked Albanian appeal to the world Communist movements to join their revolt against Moscow is unlikely to give Mr. Khrushchev any sleepless nights of worry over massive European defection from his ranks. His decision to pay the price of disciplining Albania was no doubt based on the judgment that this was necessary to consolidate his hold elsewhere.

Albania is no more a threat to Russian than say Cuba is to the United States. But even as Cuba demonstrated the self-imposed limitations on Washington's willingness to use its great power, so has Albania proved that Moscows can in certain circumstances be equally inhibited.

If Albania's defiance of Moscow is successful, it will hold great significance for all potential targets of Mr. Khrushchev's periodic rocket rattling terror tactics. Tirana today, Peiping tomorrow?

The Once Over

With Asiatic neutralist chosen secretary general of U. N. and neutral nations exceeding voting power of our side in peace organization, the Western world is wide open to taunt: "Your slip is showing."

The organization, upon which our side depends so much, has to take Burma Road to "reach" Moscow, Washington, London, Cairo, Viet Nam, Berlin and all trouble centers in Africa and South America.

U. Thant, who succeeds Hammarksjold, immediately named Russian and American as consultants and will name four or five more to represent various parts of globe.

This looks like expecting a fire chief to wait for approval of board of fire commissioners before turning on the hydrant. Soviet lost "troika" but got a sextette.

Thant looks like a strong peace worker, but he may need asbestos suit, Blue Cross coverage, an iron helmet, a year's supply of bandages and a code call for help when battle with his kibitzers gets hotter than world battle he is trying to prevent. (Maybe it will be necessary to name a secretariat to keep peace within secretariat.)

When you get four or five men in secretary general's lineup you are coming close to hiring a wrecking crew. Such a group means prolonged debates, threats of walkouts and constant complaints of backfield in motion.

Meeting in a grave crisis can be foreseen:

"I have prepared a report on this crisis and reached a conclusion steps to preserve peace," secretary general will say; "I assume that, as you gentlemen have been in on all our discussions, you will agree."

"I support your conclusions but am putting on my football helmet for further arguments," says one deputy. "I object to approval of your decision without a schedule of debates. I signed up for the duration of the peace," says another.

"I veto the vote," says Soviet member.

"There has been no vote," says Mr. Thant.

"I know it. I am getting in a veto ahead of time for whatever the issue is," thunders Russia.

"You can't stockpile vetoes," warns chief.

"Wanna bet?" demands Soviet man.

Here a man speaks up saying "I demand a shorter United Nations season, with a limit on double headers and fewer night games." The meeting is adjourned because of fog.

SEC announces new rules curbing routines of stock market investment advisers. No ad referring to stocks which made big gains through brokerage house advice will be permitted unless it also gives list of recommended stocks that declined. Use of charts to boost stocks will be curbed.

This will make countless stock market players sore. They regard it as constitutional right to be confused.

Tax Reform Due

By David Lawrence

U.S. Economy Needs Long Range Stimulus

In athletics the slogan is "keep your eye on the ball." Right now the key to what is happening in America—the "ball"—is the unemployment figure which, instead of dropping, seems to remain the same and gives some sign of rising.

David Lawrence

Total employment is going up these days — which means newcomers in the wage force are being absorbed to as large an extent as possible—but the percentage of unemployed out of the whole civilian working population nevertheless stays about the same. It's around 7 per cent and may go up further during the winter.

Why is the unemployment problem not being solved? The answer heard on every side is that large as well as small companies in the United States find themselves in a wage-price squeeze that is unprecedented in American history.

Sellers wouldn't hesitate to increase their prices if they thought buyers would order their goods but there's a limit to the heights to which prices can be pushed at certain intervals.

Unfortunately, on the other hand, the labor unions in their self-centered approach keep increasing costs. They do not seem to place any limit on the wage increases they feel they can extort by means of the threat of strikes or by actually calling strikes that prove very costly to the employers.

As a percentage of gross national product, corporate profits after taxes have declined from 5.8 per cent in 1955 to 4.5 per cent in 1960, according to the November monthly bank letter of the First National City Bank of New York, just released.

This is a startling fact but even more so are the measures being taken by business to restore the profit level. Not only is every form of labor-saving device being utilized—which again produces more unemployment, at least temporarily—but companies that ought to be building new plants and replacing more of their equipment do not have the capital or are reluctant to do so in view of the uncertain conditions that lie ahead.

The drive is on today to make as many economies as possible so as to earn profits on a basis that will attract investors and lenders of capital.

WHAT AMERICAN business needs is not a temporary stimulus but long-range encouragement. The secretary of labor, Arthur Goldberg, apparently recognizes that something is wrong, as he comments on the latest unemployment figures:

"It is disturbing that the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate remains at 6.8 per cent. This underscores that we have a stubborn and continuing problem."

But in the U.S. Department of Commerce figures is the key to the problem. They show that, out of the approximately 4 million unemployed today, more than 38 per cent have been working in the construction and manufacturing industries. This includes the primary metal industries, fabricated metal products, machinery, electrical equipment, transportation equipment.

The "heavy goods" industries are the ones hardest hit by the recession of last year but they have also been victims in previous years of a frustration growing out of the government's long neglect of tax reform in the field of depreciation allowances for new plant and equipment.

THE GOVERNMENT can't lose taxes in the long run on any depreciation plan. But what's important is the period of years designated as the life of each kind of equipment. That's what the whole controversy is about. The National City Bank letter makes a good point in this connection, as follows:

"It is a pity that the fiscal policy formula for getting the nation out of a mild recession was so concentrated on stimulating government spending and so neglectful of tax reforms which—if the experience following the 1954 tax reductions is any guide—could have done more lasting good by reinvigorating business enterprise."

Is the administration going to drift along on the matter of tax reform or take action to stimulate American enterprise by an equitable tax system?

The session of congress which begins in January can do much to restore confidence among businessmen and encourage them to increase their purchases of new plant and equipment. Already, however, the estimated figures for capital goods outlays in 1962 are being reduced, and the same frustration seems to have set in.

THE ONLY WAY out now is for tax reforms to be put into effect promptly so that volume of sales can begin to grow without any substantial increases in price.

An era of price stability would bring prosperity so far as corporate profits are concerned but unless volume goes up, too, the unemployment figures will rise.

This was the experience of the New Deal in the 1930s. It spent money on many projects but ignored the heavy goods field. Only the outbreak of World War II in 1939—when, after seven years of the New Deal, 9.4 million or 17 per cent were still unemployed—saved the day for the Democratic administration. It is to be hoped that neither the threat of war nor war itself—with increased spending for defense—will again furnish the only remedy.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I believe we owe sympathy to the befuddlers who keep barking conflicting advice about civil defense. It isn't their fault they sound like girls fighting bumblebees but the fault of the confusion in which we must live indefinitely because of inability to balance the power in an era when nuclear energy has become what the revolver was in the Old West —the equalizer.

Having put off the roundup as long as the nice weather permitted, I finally separated the sheep last Sunday and at this writing am still so stiff in the arms and shoulders I wince. The next big event in the sheep barn is scheduled for the last week of February — spring lambing. If Winter comes, Spring won't be far away.

I yield to no one in my confidence that America has the best of all possible political systems. But I am saddened during campaigns by the candidates' unflattering appraisal of the mentality of voters. Most campaigning, in my opinion, is an insult to the intelligence of children.

Without intending to be grisly about it, those California fires give you an idea what the worst part of nuclear warfare would be for survivors of the blast itself —fire storms that would bake everything underground like potatoes buried in the ashes of a campfire.

14 Missing, 25 Hurt In Collision Of Ships

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) —Two ships carrying explosive chemicals and oil collided in the Houston Ship Channel Tuesday night and 14 men were missing.

Residents of the Hillcrest area also voted on the school board candidates as it is part of the Wellsville system.

Good News For U.S. Potters: Cost Rise Hits Japan Plants

Potteries in Japan, long the major competitors of U. S. dinnerware producers, have started to bemoan the scarcity of labor after boosting beginners' wages to meet scales paid by the booming electronics and chemical industries.

The rising labor costs will mean Japanese producers will not be able to undersell domestic firms by such a wide margin, it was pointed out in the November issue of the authoritative trade magazine, Crockery & Glass Journal, published in New York City.

Its article pointed out that Japanese producers are being plagued by a scarcity of labor and rising costs.

Younger Japanese potters are being drawn into the electronics and chemicals industries despite higher wages the dinnerware plants recently instituted for beginners, it said.

The Japanese potteries are forced to compete for raw materials with non-ceramic industries and an impending hike in ocean freight rates is adding to their worries over export trade, the magazine stated. The boost in shipping costs on the North American route may amount to as much as 6 per cent, it predicted.

The magazine commented editorially that at one time "Japanese labor was cheap and represented a small part of wholesale costs, but the picture is changing fast."

On a national average, Japanese workers' wages went up 26 per cent between 1955 and 1959, it said.

"The days of the cheap Japanese labor have waned," it added. "Firms in the ceramic industry are finding it helps to offer a healthy premium to recruit new labor."

One Ruinous Fire Stalled

By JOE LEWIS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An army of 2,300 men, hacking across flaming canyons, have encircled one of two monstrous fires in the Santa Monica Mountains—and fought the other to a standstill.

If winds stay down today, firemen hope to gain the upper hand against both blazes, termed the worst fire outbreak in Southern California history.

Tuesday night firemen contained—but did not control—the fire in the Bel-Air area, home of millionaires and movie stars. They drove tractors and bulldozers around fiery brush and inaccessible canyons to clear a swath 20 to 25 feet wide around the flames' perimeter.

Assessing damage from the three-day-old fires, officials gave this estimate: more than 15 million worth of property damage; 259 homes destroyed (all but nine in the Bel-Air section); hundreds of others badly damaged and scorched; 11,000 acres of mountain watershed, prime defense against spring floods, destroyed.

Each blaze covers about 5,500 acres. At their closest points, the fires were about one to two miles apart.

There were no reports of death. About 190 firemen and residents were injured, none seriously.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who declared Los Angeles County a disaster area, has appealed to President Kennedy for federal aid.

Many of the destroyed homes were in the $100,000 class. Celebrities whose homes were destroyed: Burt Lancaster, Joe E. Brown, Joan Fontaine, Richard Boone, Lawrence Welk, Robert Taylor, James Garner, Steve Cochran, Fred MacMurray.

Thousands fled homes and classrooms. They included former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, movie stars, industrialists, housewives and school children.

Only a few of the displaced residents took advantage of three emergency Red Cross shelters.

Many congregated at the nearby Beverly-Hilton Hotel. They clattered about the spacious lobby — women trailing mink, children hauling toys, executives carrying expensive paintings and jewelry. One man, clad in cowboy clothes, lugged in his saddle and two guns.

Most of the property damage is in the Bel-Air portion of the Santa Monica Mountains, known locally as the Hollywood Hills.

Salem Gives Cranmer Nod Over Reese

SALEM — Mayor Dean B. Cranmer (D) was re-elected by an almost 2-to-1 majority over Atty. Henry L. Reese (R), and Ford Joseph Jr. (D), upset Council President Michael Schuller (R), by a 181-vote margin in two of the most closely followed contests in the municipal election here Tuesday.

The controversial city charter measure and the police and firemen's initiative ordinance for increased wages and holiday and vacation benefits were rejected.

The lopsided mayor's race returned Mayor Cranmer to his fourth non-consecutive term by a margin of 1,452 votes, the incumbent receiving 2,982 to his opponent's 1,530.

The charter was turned down 1,674 for and 2,863 against in all of the city's 23 precincts, except 4-H and 4-D. The police and firemen's ordinance did not carry one precinct. Each required only a majority.

A total of 4,640 votes — 140 shy of the 4,780 counted in the record municipal election here in 1955 — were cast in the balloting that returned a Democratic majority to Council and gave democrats five of the nine contested offices.

Winners in the six-way Council-at-large races were Fred Koenreich and James G. Aldom, Democrats, and John E. Rance, Republican. Losers were Carl C. Abe and Arthur L. Hanna, both Republican incumbents, and George A. Ehrhart, Democrat.

In the First Ward Council contest, the incumbent, Albert Lesch, bested his opponent, R. M. Linder (R).

The Fourth Ward post went to Ralph Zimmerman (R), over his opponent, Jack G. Hickling. Zimmerman is the incumbent.

James H. Criswell (R), won re-election to the treasurer's job, defeating Lloyd Morrison.

Unopposed was Atty. Thomas S. Coe for city solicitor and Third Ward councilman Harold D. Astry.

On Way To Get A-Test Ban

Kennedy, Nehru Disagree

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and India's Prime Minister Nehru, reported to be still in disagreement over way to achieve a nuclear test ban, crammed an extra meeting today into their schedules.

The midmorning talk will be the third session between the two men. They had not been scheduled to get together again until Thursday.

Kennedy also holds a news conference late this afternoon.

So far, Kennedy and Nehru have discussed most of the major problems of the cold war, including Southeast Asia, Berlin and nuclear testing.

The latter was one of the points of sharpest disagreement between the United States and India before Nehru's arrival Monday.

Nehru, informants said, held that a voluntary moratorium on testing should be renewed with the Soviet Union and that this would not stop an agreement on controls from being worked out during the moratorium.

The United States view is that a moratorium on testing places restraint on open societies such as the United States but does not prevent closed societies such as the Soviet Union from preparing for or conducting tests in secret.

U. S. officials have said the Soviets made detailed preparations for their current nuclear tests during the moratorium the Soviet Union broke Sept. 1.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said five topics dominated Tuesday's 2½ hour talk.

In addition to nuclear testing they were:

BERLIN — Kennedy presented the U. S. position in detail. Nehru, Indian sources said, told the President that free access to the city must be guaranteed to the Western powers and that Soviet Premier Khrushchev took the same position. Nehru talked with Khrushchev in September. The informants said Nehru also stated that West Berlin residents should be left free to live their own way.

SOUTHEAST ASIA — They talked about Laos and South Viet Nam, both menaced by Communist forces, and discussed how independent governments can be maintained and protected from outside intrusion.

BELGRADE CONFERENCE — Nehru gave his view of the September meeting of the 25 nonaligned nations. The positions expressed there by some of the nations, particularly on nuclear testing, were bitterly criticized in the United States as favoring the Soviet bloc.

NEW AFRICAN STATES — Problems of the area, presumably including the continuing trouble in the Congo, were discussed, but Salinger gave no details.

School Escapee Killed In Chase By Police Car

CLEVELAND (AP) — A chase by a police cruiser of a speeding car ended in the death Tuesday of a Michigan boy who had escaped from a correctional school.

Eugene Dorosh, 15, of Dearborn was killed when the stolen car he was driving smashed into the lubrication room of a gasoline station on the East Side.

The chase started when patrolman Edwin Glowacki was passed by the stolen auto whose bright lights were on. The youth failed to heed Glowacki's signal to stop and the chase reached speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

Damage to the state was estimated at $6,000.

Police said the youth had escaped from a Pittsburgh correctional school, where he had been committed for auto theft.

Longshoremen Given Pay Boost In Pact

CLEVELAND (AP) — A one-year contract calling for a four-cent-an-hour wage increase and an additional three cents hourly for health and welfare benefits for 250 longshoremen has been signed by the Cleveland Stevedore Co. and the International Longshoremen's Association Local 13-17.

The contract, signed Tuesday, authorizes the union to set up a hiring hall. The union said the company had agreed to hire all employes from the union's employment office.

A union attorney said the contract will take effect in April, 1962, when the new shipping season begins.

Present wages are $2.68 an hour for day work and 10 cents more for night work.

Ohio Voters Reject Most Bond Issues, School Levies

By The Associated Press

Voters tended to hold on to their money in bond issues and school levies put before them in Tuesday's election. Only a small percentage of the suggested ways to spend money were passed.

One of the biggest issues to be turned down was in Kettering where voters failed to approve a $4 million highway improvement bond issue. The issue required 55 per cent approval for passage but received only 53 per cent.

In Mansfield, a $3.75 million bond issue for a new Richland County courthouse was soundly defeated by a nearly 3-1 margin.

A $600,000 bond issue for a county home was defeated in Wyandot County, but the village of Carey in that county passed a $585,000 school bond issue.

Another money - matter gaining voter approval was in Mount Vernon where a $225,000 bond issue for a new city hall was accepted.

Elsewhere around the state:

Dayton passed a 10.1 mill school levy.

Oakwood approved a 5.31 mill school levy which will run indefinitely.

Columbus approved 7.6 mill levy for city schools.

Franklin County defeated a 1.8 mill county welfare levy.

Hocking County defeated two school operating levies.

Washington Court House defeated a move to buy the water works there and a .9 mill levy for improved street lights, but passed a 2 mill levy for additional fire fighting equipment and more firemen.

Terrace Park, a Cincinnati suburb, approved a $250,000 bond issue to finance building a community nuclear fallout shelter.

Allan County approved $875,000 bond issue for a county home.

The voters at Ashland defeated a proposal to sell liquor by the glass. Two other issues also were defeated—A 2.9-mill school operating levy and a proposal for a one-half of one per cent city income tax.

At Sandusky, the voters approved a 10.55-mill school operating levy and a one mill city operating levy. A .5-mill city recreation levy was defeated.

In Akron, voters approved the use of rust-inhibiting chemicals in street salt.

Cuyahoga Falls voters rejected a $1.2 million bond issue for an expressway that would have linked Akron with the proposed relocation of Ohio 8.

Tax

also via an initiative ordinance.

In 1959, Council enacted a tax of 60 cents per $100, but provided it would not be collected pending a test at the polls. It also was turned down. The third proposal was advanced in 1960 in an initiative ordinance put on the ballot by a citizens' committee. Since it was not effective pending the vote of the public, it produced no revenue.

In 1958, 3,475 voted in favor of the tax, with 5,375 against. In 1959, the question got 3,036 affirmative votes and 4,206 negative. In 1960, 3,233 voters favored the issue, but 5,724 were against.

Tax

also via an initiative ordinance.

In 1959, Council enacted a tax of 60 cents per $100, but provided it would not be collected pending a test at the polls. It also was turned down. The third proposal was advanced in 1960 in an initiative ordinance put on the ballot by a citizens' committee. Since it was not effective pending the vote of the public, it produced no revenue.

In 1958, 3,475 voted in favor of the tax, with 5,375 against. In 1959, the question got 3,036 affirmative votes and 4,206 negative. In 1960, 3,233 voters favored the issue, but 5,724 were against.

GOP Victorious In Louisville; Ratterman Wins

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "It's time for a change"—and the Republicans proved their claim by electing a mayor for the first time in 28 years.

They also won the Jefferson County judgeship after 16 years of frustration and carried off 11 of the county's 33 seats in the 1962 general assembly in Tuesday's balloting.

Reform-minded groups in northern Kentucky had cause for joy, too, as their candidate, George Ratterman, swept to an easy victory for sheriff of Campbell County.

Ratterman, who campaigned as an independent pledged to clean up vice-ridden Newport, defeated Democrat John Peluso and Republican Al Howe, a former sheriff.

Complete unofficial returns gave Ratterman, a former pro football star, 12,610 votes to 7,072 for Peluso and 6,663 for Howe.

Air Force Seeks College Women

Young women with college degrees are needed by the Air Force to fill positions in the United States and some overseas locations, Sgt. James Lee, local recruiter, said today.

New requirements have opened posts for women in budget and accounting, science, finance, education and some other specialized fields, he said.

The new female officer training school has been established to give qualified women college graduates and those within 135 days of graduations Air Force commissions as second lieutenants.

Women eligible will be given a three-month course at Lackland Air Base near San Antonio, Tex.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Sgt. Lee at FU. 5-5383 or visiting the recruiting office on the third floor of City Hall.

Court Warns Singer On $700 Support Pay

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Rock 'n' roll singer Jerry Lee Lewis has until Nov. 24 to pay $700 in overdue child support or face punishment for contempt of court.

Judge Edward Quick gave Lewis that ultimatum Tuesday after ruling the singer's income is sufficient to make full monthly payments to a former wife, Jane Lewis Wilkinson of Ferriday, La. Attorneys said Lewis had been paying only $50 a month instead of the $150 the court had ordered.

GOP Victorious In Louisville; Ratterman Wins

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "It's time for a change"—and the Republicans proved their claim by electing a mayor for the first time in 28 years.

They also won the Jefferson County judgeship after 16 years of frustration and carried off 11 of the county's 33 seats in the 1962 general assembly in Tuesday's balloting.

Reform-minded groups in northern Kentucky had cause for joy, too, as their candidate, George Ratterman, swept to an easy victory for sheriff of Campbell County.

Ratterman, who campaigned as an independent pledged to clean up vice-ridden Newport, defeated Democrat John Peluso and Republican Al Howe, a former sheriff.

Complete unofficial returns gave Ratterman, a former pro football star, 12,610 votes to 7,072 for Peluso and 6,663 for Howe.

A person's eyes control about 80 per cent of all his actions and are responsible for about 83 per cent of all his learnings. Yet, despite all this, the function of seeing consumes only about 25 per cent of the energy generated by one's body.

Upsets Mark Non-Partisan Stratton Vote

There will be a host of new faces in Stratton Village Council at its reorganization meeting in January, following Tuesday's non-partisan election marked by upsets.

Voters in the riverfront village elected four new members to Council, plus two incumbents.

In the mayoralty race, however, Mayor Michael E. Misconish won his third consecutive two-year term over challenger Sam Abdalla by 22 votes.

The complete but unofficial returns show these results:

Misconish	105
Abdalla	83

John M. Abdalla, an incumbent, polled the most votes of six given Council seats. Dohrman G. Crawford was the only other incumbent elected.

New members of Council elected were Frank B. Byers, Eli Schultz, Calvin W. Smock and Paul Zdinak.

The vote was:

J. Abdalla	99
Byers	80
Schultz	79
Smock	79
Crawford	76
Zdinak	63

Paul Mihalik and Calvin Ruder were defeated in their bids for re-election to Council. Other candidates included Walter A. English, Anne Urich, Frank Treadway and Frank W. Scheel.

The vote for the losing candidates was:

English	59

In the only other village contest, John A. Bulischak was given his third term as treasurer, defeating Richard Scheel by 17 votes.

The vote was:

Bulischak	98
Scheel	81

Mike E. Yajko was given 109 complimentary votes for village clerk. He was unopposed. Katherine Miklas filed as a candidate for clerk, but was disqualified earlier by the Jefferson County Board of Elections in failing to return a statement listing campaign expenses of a previous bid for office.

Mayor Has 2 Good Reasons To Cheer

Stratton Mayor Michael E. Misconish had two good reasons to celebrate today.

The East Liverpool High instructor was given his third two-year term as mayor of the village in Tuesday's non-partisan election, and today was to return Mrs. Misconish and a new son, John D., from Ohio Valley Hospital in Steubenville.

Upsets Mark Non-Partisan Stratton Vote

There will be a host of new faces in Stratton Village Council at its reorganization meeting in January, following Tuesday's non-partisan election marked by upsets.

Voters in the riverfront village elected four new members to Council, plus two incumbents.

In the mayoralty race, however, Mayor Michael E. Misconish won his third consecutive two-year term over challenger Sam Abdalla by 22 votes.

The complete but unofficial returns show these results:

Misconish	105
Abdalla	83

John M. Abdalla, an incumbent, polled the most votes of six given Council seats. Dohrman G. Crawford was the only other incumbent elected.

New members of Council elected were Frank B. Byers, Eli Schultz, Calvin W. Smock and Paul Zdinak.

The vote was:

J. Abdalla	99
Byers	80
Schultz	79
Smock	79
Crawford	76
Zdinak	63

Paul Mihalik and Calvin Ruder were defeated in their bids for re-election to Council. Other candidates included Walter A. English, Anne Urich, Frank Treadway and Frank W. Scheel.

The vote for the losing candidates was:

English	59

Urich	50
Rudder	43
Treadway	43
Scheel	40

In the only other village contest, John A. Bulischak was given his third term as treasurer, defeating Richard Scheel by 17 votes.

The vote was:

Bulischak	98
Scheel	81

Mike E. Yajko was given 109 complimentary votes for village clerk. He was unopposed. Katherine Miklas filed as a candidate for clerk, but was disqualified earlier by the Jefferson County Board of Elections in failing to return a statement listing campaign expenses of a previous bid for office.

Mayor Has 2 Good Reasons To Cheer

Stratton Mayor Michael E. Misconish had two good reasons to celebrate today.

The East Liverpool High instructor was given his third two-year term as mayor of the village in Tuesday's non-partisan election, and today was to return Mrs. Misconish and a new son, John D., from Ohio Valley Hospital in Steubenville.

Phone Disruption Nearly Snarls Election Reporting

Thanks to an unknown operator in the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. exchange here, Columbiana County's election machinery continued to function without a hitch despite the fact telephone service was disrupted almost completely just as the polls closed Tuesday and precinct officials hurried to file their first reports.

Somehow, the anonymous worker at the exchange, advised of the County Election Board's plight, managed to provide telephone service for the returns transmitted locally, as well as for several long distance calls.

Any precinct officials who were unable to telephone their first "flash" counts to the board's office resorted to runners — speeding the tabulations afoot or by auto.

Normally, the board would have completed the "flash" count on the mayor's race and the income tax issue by 7:30 — an hour after the polls closed. As it was, the first unofficial count on the top races was not finished until about 8:30, but Frank R. O'Hanlon regarded the accomplishment as a minor miracle because all the operation was geared to telephone service which suddenly quit cold.

"Thanks to the 100 per cent cooperation of an unknown operator in the telephone exchange, the Election Board was provided with service despite the fact virtually every telephone in East Liverpool was out of operation," O'Hanlon said. "I don't know how she managed it, but the girl kept a line open for me and even completed a couple of vital long distance calls."

"Despite the breakdown, there was absolutely no delay in our reports to the secretary of state's office in Columbus," O'Hanlon said.

The veteran clerk also commended the precinct officials for "the remarkable way in which they responded in the emergency."

"They used splendid judgment in getting in the returns by alternate means, despite the lack of telephones," he pointed out. Most precinct officials, when they found telephone service out, scribbled the first reports on scraps of paper and hurried them to the board by runner.

"Everyone did a fine job—from the precinct workers right on up through the members of the Election Board," O'Hanlon said.

When it came to predicting the county's turnout for the election, O'Hanlon missed by less than 300.

He predicted a total vote of 30,000. The final count showed 30,223.

East Liverpool's total vote hit 6,620, short of the minimum of 7,000 that had been expected. Light forenoon balloting yesterday was the first hint that the turnout would fall below the predicted total.

In the last comparable election in 1959, the county cast 30,000, including 7,624 in East Liverpool. In 1957, 6,587 voted in East Liverpool, with 28,003 in the county.

In 1955, East Liverpool cast 6,356 of the county's 28,894 votes. In 1953, the city had a turnout of 6,736 of 26,675 in the county. The city's vote in 1951 was 7,771, while the county cast 23,139.

The first precinct to report in the "flash count" last night was 3-B, located in the City Hall across the street from the election board. It filed its figures at 6:47, just 17 minutes after the polls closed.

Columbiana County was the first in Ohio to submit a report to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in Columbus on partial returns on the four proposed constitutional amendments.

O'Hanlon was congratulated by the Columbus staff when he telephoned the Columbiana County report at 7:59. The county's entire tabulation on the state amendments was finished at 9:59.

Citywide totals on all municipal races were finished at midnight. About an hour later, the board closed up shop for the night after receiving returns from a few "stragglers" in outlying sections.

The board will begin the official canvass of the returns Thursday morning at its office here. The job may be completed Friday, but it might extend into Saturday, O'Hanlon said. He pointed out an off-year election such as the one held yesterday is the most complicated there is from the standpoint of compiling reports.

There were 400 candidates' names on the ballots in 13 cities and villages, 18 townships and 12 school districts, O'Hanlon pointed out. In addition, 40 special questions and issues were decided.

GOP Wins Landslide In Columbus, Franklin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republicans won a sweeping victory in Columbus and Franklin County Tuesday with only one Democrat winning in 12 races.

The GOP landslide ousted three Democratic city councilmen and gave the Republicans 6-1 control of that group. It is the first time since 1958 that the GOP has held the reigns in Council.

Councilmen elected were Tom Moody, Robert T. Southwick and William R. Fornof. They defeated Democrats Robert L. Van Heyde, Russell M. Jones and Robert H. Smith.

The only Democrat to survive the sweep was Municipal Court Judge Fred Shoemaker, one of seven judges elected to that bench.

Levies Pass At Wellsville

Two levies up for renewal at Wellsville in Tuesday's general election were approved by large margins, according to complete but unofficial returns. Both required only a majority.

Approved were a 1-mill city levy for five years for the police department and a 2.8-mill school levy for one year.

The police levy has been in effect for 10 years. It pays the salaries of part of the personnel. The vote was:

For	1,300
Against	875

The school levy is a continuation of the levy first voted in 1957. It provides money for general repairs and operating expenses. The count was:

For	1,772
Against	618

Somehow, the anonymous worker at the exchange, advised of the County Election Board's plight, managed to provide telephone service for the returns transmitted locally, as well as for several long distance calls.

Any precinct officials who were unable to telephone their first "flash" counts to the board's office resorted to runners — speeding the tabulations afoot or by auto.

Normally, the board would have completed the "flash" count on the mayor's race and the income tax issue by 7:30 — an hour after the polls closed. As it was, the first unofficial count on the top races was not finished until about 8:30, but Frank R. O'Hanlon regarded the accomplishment as a minor miracle because all the operation was geared to telephone service which suddenly quit cold.

"Thanks to the 100 per cent cooperation of an unknown operator in the telephone exchange, the Election Board was provided with service despite the fact virtually every telephone in East Liverpool was out of operation," O'Hanlon said. "I don't know how she managed it, but the girl kept a line open for me and even completed a couple of vital long distance calls."

"Despite the breakdown, there was absolutely no delay in our reports to the secretary of state's office in Columbus," O'Hanlon said.

The veteran clerk also commended the precinct officials for "the remarkable way in which they responded in the emergency."

"They used splendid judgment in getting in the returns by alternate means, despite the lack of telephones," he pointed out. Most precinct officials, when they found telephone service out, scribbled the first reports on scraps of paper and hurried them to the board by runner.

"Everyone did a fine job—from the precinct workers right on up through the members of the Election Board," O'Hanlon said.

When it came to predicting the county's turnout for the election, O'Hanlon missed by less than 500.

He predicted a total vote of 30,000. The final count showed 30,223.

East Liverpool's total vote hit 6,620, short of the minimum of 7,000 that had been expected. Light forenoon balloting yesterday was the first hint that the turnout would fall below the predicted total.

In the last comparable election in 1959, the county cast 30,000, including 7,624 in East Liverpool. In 1957, 6,587 voted in East Liverpool, with 28,003 in the county.

In 1955, East Liverpool cast 6,356 of the county's 28,894 votes. In 1953, the city had a turnout of 6,736 of 26,675 in the county. The city's vote in 1951 was 7,771, while the county cast 23,139.

The first precinct to report in the "flash count" last night was 3-B, located in the City Hall across the street from the election board. It filed its figures at 6:47, just 17 minutes after the polls closed.

Columbiana County was the first in Ohio to submit a report to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in Columbus on partial returns on the four proposed constitutional amendments.

O'Hanlon was congratulated by the Columbus staff when he telephoned the Columbiana County report at 7:59. The county's entire tabulation on the state amendments was finished at 9:59.

Citywide totals on all municipal races were finished at midnight. About an hour later, the board closed up shop for the night after receiving returns from a few "stragglers" in outlying sections.

The board will begin the official canvass of the returns Thursday morning at its office here. The job may be completed Friday, but it might extend into Saturday, O'Hanlon said. He pointed out an off-year election such as the one held yesterday is the most complicated there is from the standpoint of compiling reports.

There were 400 candidates' names on the ballots in 13 cities and villages, 18 townships and 12 school districts, O'Hanlon pointed out. In addition, 40 special questions and issues were decided.

GOP Wins Landslide In Columbus, Franklin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republicans won a sweeping victory in Columbus and Franklin County Tuesday with only one Democrat winning in 12 races.

The GOP landslide ousted three Democratic city councilmen and gave the Republicans 6-1 control of that group. It is the first time since 1958 that the GOP has held the reigns in Council.

Councilmen elected were Tom Moody, Robert T. Southwick and William R. Fornof. They defeated Democrats Robert L. Van Heyde, Russell M. Jones and Robert H. Smith.

The only Democrat to survive the sweep was Municipal Court Judge Fred Shoemaker, one of seven judges elected to that bench.

Levies Pass At Wellsville

Two levies up for renewal at Wellsville in Tuesday's general election were approved by large margins, according to complete but unofficial returns. Both required only a majority.

Approved were a 1-mill city levy for five years for the police department and a 2.8-mill school levy for one year.

The police levy has been in effect for 10 years. It pays the salaries of part of the personnel. The vote was:

For	1,300
Against	875

The school levy is a continuation of the levy first voted in 1957. It provides money for general repairs and operating expenses. The count was:

For	1,772
Against	618

Rotary Speaker Traces Life Of Gen. John Morgan

An account of the adventures of Gen. John H. Morgan — one of the Civil War's most dashing figures — was given by R. Max Gard of Lisbon at the Rotary Club's meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

The address by the local historian and antique dealer coincides with the Civil War Centennial marking the 100th anniversary of the nation's great war over slavery.

Gard traced the movements of the 'Confederate Thunderbolt" from his birthplace in Huntsville, Ala., to his death by shooting in the fall of 1863 in Tennessee.

In between, Morgan, who had the ability to command his men and make them like him, rose from lieutenant to general, inflicted heavy losses on the Union with his lightning-like raids and plundered homes and stores in Ohio until he was caught in Columbiana County.

Gen. Morgan and a handful of tired, horse-worn troops passed through this area near the end of the war and were captured at West Point.

Morgan's Raiders had crossed from Kentucky into Ohio July 8, 1862 on two captured river craft —the J. S. McCombs and the Alice Dean.

Six of his men were killed in a skirmish following the river crossing, and Morgan later burned the home of a minister who had participated in the fight. It was the only home burned in Morgan's entire flight through Ohio, Gard commented.

At a store along the route, Morgan's men obtained $3,500 in merchandise for which they paid only several hundred dollars in Confederate currency, and told the merchant to "charge the rest."

Rumors of the Confederate band's plans helped Morgan to conceal his movements many times, Gard said. Hearing the Rebel leader was en route to Indianapolis, the militia converged there in waiting, but Morgan turned up in Versailles, Ind., where he robbed the county treasury of $5,000.

Jewels plundered by his troops were ordered returned to a Versailles Masonic Lodge when Morgan learned of the incident, Gard pointed out.

On July 12, Morgan and his troops again crossed into Ohio at Harrison, by-passing Cincinnati which was well-protected, Gard continued.

Tired and sleepy from constant flight, the raiders fled to Washington Court House where they split into two groups. A colonel and 650 raiders were captured but Morgan and 1,400 others got away.

In the meantime, they had continued their pillage, ripping up a newspaper publishing office at Jackson.

On July 25, the day before his surrender, Morgan discarded his horse to ride in a buggy near Cadiz.

The tired Confederate band camped near Hammondsville in Northern Jefferson County while the Union force posted heavy guards at possible river crossing points at Steubenville and East Liverpool.

Hearing of Morgan's nearness, "local heroes marched in from Petersburg, New Middleton and Poland," Gard said. "On their way, they passed some southern sympathizers, who were told by the troops that "If we don't get Morgan, we'll get you on the return trip," Gard said.

The souther sympathizers, or "Copperheads," built a fort and hung on it a sign reading "Morgantown," the present name of a small community near North Lima, Gard said.

Gen. Morgan later surrendered to a Capt. Burbick and spent the night in Wellsville. Morgan was sent to the Ohio Penitentiary, but escaped in 1863.

Gard discounted the legend that Morgan had escaped by digging a tunnel with two table knives through eight feet of masonry walls.

Morgan's career ended Sept. 24 when he was shot by Andrew Campbell in Tennessee, Gard said. He was buried at Lexington, Ky., where he had organized the "Lexington Rifles" early in his life as a soldier.

Gard was introduced by Atty. William H. Vodrey Jr., program chairman, who pointed out the program was "appropriate for our neighborhood with Columbiana County having a Civil War battlefield, monument, romantic hero and other relics of that period." Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, president, presided.

On Solution To Berlin Crisis

Kennedy To Eye Quick Accord With Adenauer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy hopes to reach quick agreement with German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer later this month on issues that the Western powers may negotiate with the Soviet Union in the search for a peaceful solution to the Berlin crisis.

The White House annnounced Tuesday that Adenauer would visit Washington Nov. 20-21 for talks with the President, on Berlin problems and "other matters of common interest."

If the U. S.-West German summit discussions are successful, they will be followed by efforts to reach detailed agreements among the Western powers on a Berlin negotiating position.

In this prospective second stage, the President's task will be to try to win an accord with French President Charles de Gaulle, who has been opposed to negotiations with the Soviets until Premier Khrushchev has modified his position on Berlin.

The Adenauer visit to Washington will be held about a month later than U. S. officials had hoped. The delay was occasioned by Adenauer's need to form a coalition government following the Sept. 17 elections, which reduced his political strength. His domestic problems were finally resolved Friday and the announcement of his visit to Washington followed quickly.

For several weeks Allied policy-making on Berlin has been largely paralyzed by differences among the four Western governments involved. All understood that until the reorganized West German government took office final decisions could not be made.

Kennedy and other officials are said to feel that if U. S.-West German understanding can be reached, the problem of coming to agreement with France should be easier. The British and Americans have had no difficulty on the problem of negotiations.

Merchants Air Participation In Rural-Urban Day Event

Plans for participation by the East Liverpool Merchants Association in the annual Rural-Urban Day program Nov. 15 were discussed Tuesday at the monthly meeting of the businessmen's group in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Residents of rural areas in southern Columbiana County will be guests of the Chamber and ELMA for the observance, highlighted by a 6:30 p.m. dinner and program at Tice's Restaurant.

The principal speakers will be Alvin T. Babb, Chamber president, and Walter L. Myers Jr. of Steubenville, executive manager of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

The discussion on the Rural-Urban program was led by Harold Allison, chairman of the Chamber's agriculture and conservation committee, which is in charge.

Two members of the Junior Chamber attended to explain plans for the traditional Christmas parade Friday, Nov. 24. The Jaycees will arrange the parade, which will welcome Santa Claus and officially usher in the 1961 gift-buying season.

The parade details were explained by Paul Seckman, chairman of the committee in charge, and Frank Potts, his assistant.

Jack Steinberg, chairman of the ELMA Christmas activities committee, announced a contractor will start work soon on erection of Yule decorations in the business district in order to take advantage of favorable weather.

The lighted decorations will be switched on for the first time the night of the Santa Claus parade, he pointed out.

A supplier's representative has reported that miniature lighted Christmas tree replicas used to decorate utility poles have been renovated entirely for use this year, Steinberg said. With additional decorations already purchased, the East Liverpool shopping district "will be more attractive and colorful this year than ever before," ELMA was told.

Steinberg also reported a large blue spruce has been donated to the city for use as the community Christmas tree on the Diamond.

It was ELMA's first meeting in the Chamber's new quarters in the Holloway Building on E. 5th St. The members inspected the second - floor suite of rooms, which the Chamber occupied about a week ago.

The principal speakers will be Alvin T. Babb, Chamber president, and Walter L. Myers Jr. of Steubenville, executive manager of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

The discussion on the Rural-Urban program was led by Harold Allison, chairman of the Chamber's agriculture and conservation committee, which is in charge.

Two members of the Junior Chamber attended to explain plans for the traditional Christmas parade Friday, Nov. 24. The Jaycees will arrange the parade, which will welcome Santa Claus and officially usher in the 1961 gift-buying season.

The parade details were explained by Paul Seckman, chairman of the committee in charge, and Frank Potts, his assistant.

Jack Steinberg, chairman of the ELMA Christmas activities committee, announced a contractor will start work soon on erection of Yule decorations in the business district in order to take advantage of favorable weather.

The lighted decorations will be switched on for the first time the night of the Santa Claus parade, he pointed out.

A supplier's representative has reported that miniature lighted Christmas tree replicas used to decorate utility poles have been renovated entirely for use this year, Steinberg said. With additional decorations already purchased, the East Liverpool shopping district "will be more attractive and colorful this year than ever before," ELMA was told.

Steinberg also reported a large blue spruce has been donated to the city for use as the community Christmas tree on the Diamond.

It was ELMA's first meeting in the Chamber's new quarters in the Holloway Building on E. 5th St. The members inspected the second - floor suite of rooms, which the Chamber occupied about a week ago.

Probers Seeking Cause Of Blast

CINCINNATI (AP) — Investigators continued today to seek the cause of a mysterious explosion that demolished a two-story brick home in Bridgetown Tuesday.

Homes and businesses near the George Hausfeld home were damaged by the blast. Police estimated damages at around $100,000. The Hausfeld home was valued at around $35,000.

Two persons were injured by the explosion which investigators believe was probably caused by a gas leak or a defective oil furnace. The FBI entered the case briefly, but withdrew after determining there had been no bomb blast.

Bank Robber Held To Court

LISBON — William C. Brown, 57-year-old Minerva factory worker charged with a dynamite-threat holdup of the Farmers National Bank at Hanoverton Monday, was bound over to federal court Tuesday at Youngstown under $25,000 bond.

Brown, captured in less than an hour after the robbery, was taken yesterday from the County Jail here to a hearing at Youngstown.

He was to be transferred today to Cleveland by a deputy U. S. marshal to wait the January term of Federal District Court.

The Ohio Highway Patrol, which captured Brown north of Minerva, said he admitted entering the branch bank and taking $4,875 in cash after threatening to detonate four sticks of dynamite he was carrying in a cigar box.

Bowling Green Beats Charter Form Of Rule

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —Voters here defeated a proposed charter form of government 2,077 to 1,058 Tuesday.

The issue had been debated hotly in recent weeks, with the Chamber of Commerce and League of Women's Voters backing the suggested change, and the city employes, particularly the police and firemen, opposing it.

Had the question won approval, the charter form of government would have gone into effect in 1964 with a strong mayor-council system. It also would have lengthened officials' terms to four years, made the offices of city solicitor and auditor appointed instead of elected and removed the fire and police chiefs from civil service regulations.

GOP Chalks Up Sweeping Victory In Toledo Vote

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Republicans won a sweeping victory in Tuesday's election for councilmen for the Toledo's city manager government, winning eight of the nine seats.

The 8-1 allignment in favor of the Republicans compares with a 5-4 majority for the Democrats on the current council. It is the first Republican majority in 10 years. The seats went to the nine candidates sharing the highest total votes.

Eighteen names were on the ballot. The nine elected take office in December and will select a city manager and assistant city manager from among themselves.

Incumbent City Manager Michael Damas, a Democrat, didn't qualify in the primary.

A proposal to increase the city payroll-income tax from 1 per cent to 1½ was defeated. With all but 13 of 387 precincts counted, the vote was 42,839 against and 28,919 for.

Elected to the council were: Andy Douglas, John W. Potter, Harold J. Wagner, Howard Cook, Thaddeus Walinski, Dean Neumann—the lone Democrat—Carlton Siegel, George Mayo and Donald Brown.

Florida's population grew 76 per cent during the 1950's, as against 19 per cent for the United States as a whole.

Former City Resident Has Role In TV Show

A former East Liverpool man will have a role on Twilight Zone television show Friday night on Channels 2 and 9.

Charles Fox, brother of Mrs. Mary Ray, 217 W. 2nd St., will play the victim in "Death's Head Revisited."

Big 10 May Not Be Invited To Rose Bowl

★ ★ ★

Alabama Is Reported As Possibility

NEW YORK (AP)—The always cloudy college football bowl picture has a new element of uncertainty this year—a Big Ten team may not be invited to the biggest of them all, the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. There is at least a fair chance Alabama might get the bid.

The working agreement between the West Coast and the Big Ten has expired, although Minnesota was invited last year. There is some disagreement within the Big Ten over the game and the upshot could be a switch by the West Coast group to another area for the visiting team.

Among the teams almost certain to be invited somewhere come the bowl season are Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana State and possibly Georgia Tech of the Southeastern Conference; all-conquering Texas of the Southwest Conference; Maryland and Syracuse on the Eastern seaboard and Army and Navy if they condescend to go. Any way the pie is cut, the Southeastern Conference gets the big bowl share.

Television is a big factor in the bowl picture. Sponsors want teams with colorful performers and broad regional appeal. Since big money is involved, bowl selectors pay heed. This could work against such fine, unbeaten teams as Colorado and Rutgers.

Here is how the major bowls shape up:

ROSE, at Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1—UCLA, 2-0 in Big Five play, seems to have the inside track as the Western team, with the issue probably to be decided Nov. 25 in the game with Southern California. Ohio State and Minnesota, unbeaten in the Big Ten, would seem to have first call, but Ken Hooton, a director of the Big Ten Club of Southern California, thinks the academic Senate of Ohio State might veto the game, and that Minnesota might not want a repeat appearance.

All this points to Alabama as a possibility.

COTTON, at Dallas, Jan. 1—Top-ranked Texas seems sure to be host team. Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana State, Georgia Tech and Auburn of the Southeastern Conference are all possible opponents.

SUGAR, at New Orleans, Jan. 1—The stands are segregated and no teams with Negro players will be invited. That points to an all-Southeastern Conference game, and again the possibilities are Louisiana State, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Auburn.

ORANGE, at Miami, Jan. 1—One team will come from the Big Eight but this does not have to be the conference champion, now shaping up as Colorado. "If Colorado falls by the wayside, then we have Missouri or Kansas," says Ernie Seiler, Orange Bowl president. Georgia Tech and Syracuse are possible opponents to the Big Eight representative.

GATOR, at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 30—The goal is to match a Southeastern team against one from the East. The Eastern group includes Maryland, Syracuse, Army and Navy.

BLUEBONNET, at Houston, Dec. 16—One of the top Southeastern teams is wanted for one opponent, or possibly Navy. For the home team the runner-up in the Southwest Conference will be sought. This could be the winner of Saturday's Rice-Arkansas contest.

LIBERTY BOWL, at Philadelphia, Dec. 16—Maryland, Syracuse, Villanova, Rutgers, Army and Navy are best prospects for host team. For opponents, one of the tough Southeastern Conference teams is being considered along with Rice, Utah State, Miami of Florida, North Carolina and Duke.

GOTHAM, at New York, Dec. 9—Army and Syracuse have been invited. Both are proving coy. Maryland, Miami of Florida, and Georgia Tech are possibilities. Coming as it does the week after the NCAA television program concludes with the Army-Navy game, this new bowl has a momentum TV audience that could help in landing a major attraction.

OSU Choice Over Indiana

★ ★ ★

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A poet once wrote that "once to every man and nation, comes the moment to decide." That doesn't include college football forecasting where you must decide every Wednesday. Last week there were 36 correct decisions, 16 wrong for .692.

This week's picks:

Texas over Baylor: Texas has romped over four conference foes to the average tune of 34-7. What makes you think they won't do the same to Baylor?

Alabama over Richmond: Almost like an open date for the Alabamans.

Ohio State over Indiana: Where do you find a better fullback than Bob Ferguson of the Buckeyes?

Louisiana State over North Carolina: This very easily could go the other way if the LSU Tigers spend too much time re-reading the clippings of their triumph over Mississippi last weekend.

Iowa over Minnesota: The nation's No. 1 team in September needs a victory here to save its season from complete collapse.

Michigan State over Purdue: They can't stop the Spartans two weeks in a row. But the Boilermakers are rugged.

Mississippi over Chattanooga: The Rebels start another winning streak.

Colorado over Utah: Gale Weidner and his Colorado mates are headed for the Orange Bowl and they are not to be side-tracked at this stage.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: Some of the wolves are beginning to yelp in Tennessee and that should inspire the Vols.

Missouri over Oklahoma: But not by last year's 41-19 margin.

Syracuse over Colgate: Just when Colgate starts on the road back it runs into an angry Ernie Davis.

Duke over Navy: This is the Oyster Bowl game. The Duke razzle-dazzle will decide it.

UCLA over Texas Christian: A toughie but the home field helps hte Californians. It is a Friday night contest.

Washington over Oregon State: Too much Huskie speed in the person of Charlie Mitchell.

Miami (Ohio) over Dayton, Michigan over Illinois, Houston over Tulsa, Iowa State over Nebraska, Kansas over Kansas State, Wisconsin over Northwestern, Wichita over Drake, Xavier (Ohio) over Marshall and Utah State over Western Michigan.

Saxton Of Texas Is Back-Of-Week

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Saxton, the lightfooted flyer for Texas' stampeding Longhorns, was named The Associated Press college football Back of the Week today.

Saxton was cited for his performance in Saturday's 27-0 victory over Southern Methodist, a victory that kept Texas in the unbeaten-untied class and helped lift the Longhorns into the No. 1 national ranking.

As usual, Saturday's backfield stars were plentiful and many were nominated for top honors. Among them were Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, Sandy Stephens and Bill Munsey of Minnesota, Dick Shiner of Maryland, Ernie Davis of Shracuse, Eddie Wilson of Arizona, Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, Bobby Smith of UCLA, Butch Blume of Rice, Mel Renfro of Oregon, Ray Farris of North Carolina and Bill Whaley of The Citadel.

SMU held Texas scoreless until the third period, when Saxton broke the Mustang resistance with a 79-yard touchdown sprint. The slender 165-pounder also led another scoring drive, finished the afternoon with 173 yards in 16 carries, and for good measure got off a 54-yard punt.

Stephens, Munsey and Stovall played standout roles in two of the year's prime upsets.

Stephens, selected as top back by the AP last week, turned in another superb performance as Minnesota downed then topranked Michigan State 13-0. His versatile work included a scoring pass, several other vital offensive strikes and an end zone interception. Munsey, back on the field after three weeks out with an injury, accounted for both Minnesota touchdowns and starred defensively.

Stovall touched off LSU's 10-7 triumph over then second-ranked Mississippi with a sizzling 57-yard run that set up the Tiger touchdown.

Field Goal Is Big Weapon In College Football Today

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The field goal has become the ultimate weapon in close football games this year as the college footballers have adopted the pros attitude that three points is better than a long-shot chance for six.

Almost two-dozen major college games have been decided by the field goal so far, with many crucial conference and prestige games still to come.

The trend toward increased use of the three-pointer began when the rule-makers widened the goal posts a few years back instead of moving them 10 yards forward to the goal line.

So far the Southeastern and Southwest conferences have been the key users of the field goal. Durwood Pennington of Georgia has won three games for the Bulldogs with his accurate kicking, one a 52-yard shot that beat Kentucky 16-15. This came after he had made one from 47-yards only to have a five-yard penalty nullify the goal and force his longer-range boot.

At Southern Methodist, John Richey kicks 'em barefoot if he has to. He beat the Air Force 9-7, breaking a 13-game victory drought for the Mustangs, with a 30-yard barefoot shot.

"The teams all are trying to protect themselves against the two-point situation," says SMU Coach Bill Meek. "And a field goal does it."

Greg Mather, Navy's fine end, beat Notre Dame 13-10 last week with a 22-yard field goal, his second of the game, and eighth of the year. He kicked three in one game, a 37-19 win over Detroit.

"Any time we get within shooting distance, he's a threat and shooting distance for him is anywhere across the 50," says Navy Coach Wayne Hardin of Mather. "That takes a lot of pressure off our quarterbacks."

Lakers, Royals Conquer Hawks, Knicks In NBA

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers are not going to rely on the other National Basketball Association teams to knock the St. Louis Hawks off their Western Division Throne. They aim to do it personally.

They took a major step in that direction Tuesday night, defeating The Hawks 127-110 behind the slick shooting of Elgin Baylor and Jerry West. The Cincinnati Royals downed the New York Knickerbockers 123-98 in the only other game.

Baylor scored 37 points and West 36 as the Lakers took a 3-game lead over Cincinnati in the Western Division. The Hawks dropped to third place. The St. Louis big three, Clyde Lovellette, Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan, did its share accounting for 73 points, led by Lovellette's 32.

The Knicks led early in their game with Cincinnati. But the Royals poured it on after tying it at 20-20. Jack Twyman had 26 points and Oscar Robertson 22 for the winners.

NBA Moves Sonny Liston To Top Challenger's Spot

CHICAGO (AP — "That's good, that's good, now I won't have to knock off that Britisher to get to that title."

This was Sonny Liston talking today after the National Boxing Association Tuesday restored him as No. 1 challenger for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title in its month ratings.

In its previous ratings, the NBA had listed England's Henry Cooper as the ranking contender for Patterson's crown, ignoring Liston because of his most recent brush with the law. "Maybe I don't have to fight that Cooper now to show who's who," grinned Sonny, who doesn't grin easily. The NBA now rates Cooper fourth.

Liston, 28, has spent most of his bizarre career winning fights in the ring, losing scrapes outside the ring and never quite catching up with Patterson.

At the moment, he may be on the glory trail. He now goes to his "rehabilitation center" — to train for his Dec. 4 bout with Germany's Albert Westphal, a master baker from Hamburg. The Philadelphia bout will be part of a fistic TV doubleheader, also including Patterson's title defense against Tom McNeely in Toronto.

Liston, also rated the No. 1 contender by Ring magazine, not only has put himself in the hands of a new manager, George Katz, but also those of a Denver priest, Rev. Edward Murphy.

"I'm glad of a new chance and I hope to make the best of it," said Liston who was in Chicago for a Monday night exhibition with Chicago's Ernest Terrell.

"I think I've found a true friend in Father Murphy — and that makes a lot of difference after all the trouble I've been in," said the hulking Liston, who has won 32 of 33 bouts and knocked out 22 opponents.

Liston hasn't fought a regular bout since last March when he kayoed Howard King in Florida. Meanwhile, he had to unburden himself of connections which brought him before a congressional committee and also get straightened out once more after a brush with the law.

Minnesota Lineman Gets Top Honors

By JIM ROGERS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—"I don't know what to say. I'm very grateful to everyone for helping me get such an honor."

That was end Tom Hall's reaction today after being named Associated Press Lineman of the Week for his play in Minnesota's 13-0 upset victory over Michigan State Saturday.

"It sure feels good," Hall continued in his soft-spoken manner. "Give the credit to Butch Nash, though. He's the one who has done the most toward my receiving this honor." Nash is Minnesota end coach.

Hall, tabbed by Minnesota coaches as one of the most underrated players in the Big Ten, was very instrumental in last week's victory, Minnesota's fourth straight in conference play.

He snared two passes in the Gophers' first touchdown drive, grabbed another as the Gophers penetrated Spartan territory in fourth period and then pounced on a fumble after that drive fizzled. The Gophers then went in to score the clinching touchdown.

Despite Hall's outstanding work on offense, it was his play on defense which contributed greatly to the Minnesota cause. He was constantly in the opposing backfield, harassing passer Pete Smith, and was a stone wall on end runs to his side.

Scribe Picks Iowa To Down Minnesota; Texas Favored

Big 10 May Not Be Invited To Rose Bowl

★ ★ ★

Alabama Is Reported As Possibility

NEW YORK (AP)—The always cloudy college football bowl picture has a new element of uncertainty this year—a Big Ten team may not be invited to the biggest of them all, the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. There is at least a fair chance Alabama might get the bid.

The working agreement between the West Coast and the Big Ten has expired, although Minnesota was invited last year. There is some disagreement within the Big Ten over the game and the upshot could be a switch by the West Coast group to another area for the visiting team.

Among the teams almost certain to be invited somewhere come the bowl season are Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana State and possibly Georgia Tech of the Southeastern Conference; all-conquering Texas of the Southwest Conference; Maryland and Syracuse on the Eastern seaboard and Army and Navy if they condescend to go. Any way the pie is cut, the Southeastern Conference gets the big bowl share.

Television is a big factor in the bowl picture. Sponsors want teams with colorful performers and broad regional appeal. Since big money is involved, bowl selectors pay heed. This could work against such fine, unbeaten teams as Colorado and Rutgers.

Here is how the major bowls shape up:

ROSE, at Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1—UCLA, 2-0 in Big Five play, seems to have the inside track as the Western team, with the issue probably to be decided Nov. 25 in the game with Southern California. Ohio State and Minnesota, unbeaten in the Big Ten, would seem to have first call, but Ken Hooton, a director of the Big Ten Club of Southern California, thinks the academic Senate of Ohio State might veto the game, and that Minnesota might not want a repeat appearance.

All this points to Alabama as a possibility.

COTTON, at Dallas, Jan. 1—Top-ranked Texas seems sure to be host team. Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana State, Georgia Tech and Auburn of the Southeastern Conference are all possible opponents.

SUGAR, at New Orleans, Jan. 1—The stands are segregated and no teams with Negro players will be invited. That points to an all-Southeastern Conference game, and again the possibilities are Louisiana State, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Auburn.

ORANGE, at Miami, Jan. 1—One team will come from the Big Eight but this does not have to be the conference champion, now shaping up as Colorado. "If Colorado falls by the wayside, then we have Missouri or Kansas," says Ernie Seiler, Orange Bowl president. Georgia Tech and Syracuse are possible opponents to the Big Eight representative.

GATOR, at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 30—The goal is to match a Southeastern team against one from the East. The Eastern group includes Maryland, Syracuse, Army and Navy.

BLUEBONNET, at Houston, Dec. 16—One of the top Southeastern teams is wanted for one opponent, or possibly Navy. For the home team the runner-up in the Southwest Conference will be sought. This could be the winner of Saturday's Rice-Arkansas contest.

LIBERTY BOWL, at Philadelphia, Dec. 16—Maryland, Syracuse, Villanova, Rutgers, Army and Navy are best prospects for host team. For opponents, one of the tough Southeastern Conference teams is being considered along with Rice, Utah State, Miami of Florida, North Carolina and Duke.

GOTHAM, at New York, Dec. 9—Army and Syracuse have been invited. Both are proving coy. Maryland, Miami of Florida, and Georgia Tech are possibilities. Coming as it does the week after the NCAA television program concludes with the Army-Navy game, this new bowl has a momentum TV audience that could help in landing a major attraction.

OSU Choice Over Indiana

★ ★ ★

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A poet once wrote that "once to every man and nation, comes the moment to decide." That doesn't include college football forecasting where you must decide every Wednesday. Last week there were 36 correct decisions, 16 wrong for .692.

This week's picks:

Texas over Baylor: Texas has romped over four conference foes to the average tune of 34-7. What makes you think they won't do the same to Baylor?

Alabama over Richmond: Almost like an open date for the Alabamans.

Ohio State over Indiana: Where do you find a better fullback than Bob Ferguson of the Buckeyes?

Louisiana State over North Carolina: This very easily could go the other way if the LSU Tigers spend too much time re-reading the clippings of their triumph over Mississippi last weekend.

Iowa over Minnesota: The nation's No. 1 team in September needs a victory here to save its season from complete collapse.

Michigan State over Purdue: They can't stop the Spartans two weeks in a row. But the Boilermakers are rugged.

Mississippi over Chattanooga: The Rebels start another winning streak.

Colorado over Utah: Gale Weidner and his Colorado mates are headed for the Orange Bowl and they are not to be side-tracked at this stage.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: Some of the wolves are beginning to yelp in Tennessee and that should inspire the Vols.

Missouri over Oklahoma: But not by last year's 41-19 margin.

Syracuse over Colgate: Just when Colgate starts on the road back it runs into an angry Ernie Davis.

Duke over Navy: This is the Oyster Bowl game. The Duke razzle-dazzle will decide it.

UCLA over Texas Christian: A toughie but the home field helps hte Californians. It is a Friday night contest.

Washington over Oregon State: Too much Huskie speed in the person of Charlie Mitchell.

Miami (Ohio) over Dayton, Michigan over Illinois, Houston over Tulsa, Iowa State over Nebraska, Kansas over Kansas State, Wisconsin over Northwestern, Wichita over Drake, Xavier (Ohio) over Marshall and Utah State over Western Michigan.

Saxton Of Texas Is Back-Of-Week

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Saxton, the lightfooted flyer for Texas' stampeding Longhorns, was named The Associated Press college football Back of the Week today.

Saxton was cited for his performance in Saturday's 27-0 victory over Southern Methodist, a victory that kept Texas in the unbeaten-untied class and helped lift the Longhorns into the No. 1 national ranking.

As usual, Saturday's backfield stars were plentiful and many were nominated for top honors. Among them were Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, Sandy Stephens and Bill Munsey of Minnesota, Dick Shiner of Maryland, Ernie Davis of Shracuse, Eddie Wilson of Arizona, Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, Bobby Smith of UCLA, Butch Blume of Rice, Mel Renfro of Oregon, Ray Farris of North Carolina and Bill Whaley of The Citadel.

SMU held Texas scoreless until the third period, when Saxton broke the Mustang resistance with a 79-yard touchdown sprint. The slender 165-pounder also led another scoring drive, finished the afternoon with 173 yards in 16 carries, and for good measure got off a 54-yard punt.

Stephens, Munsey and Stovall played standout roles in two of the year's prime upsets.

Stephens, selected as top back by the AP last week, turned in another superb performance as Minnesota downed then topranked Michigan State 13-0. His versatile work included a scoring pass, several other vital offensive strikes and an end zone interception. Munsey, back on the field after three weeks out with an injury, accounted for both Minnesota touchdowns and starred defensively.

Stovall touched off LSU's 10-7 triumph over then second-ranked Mississippi with a sizzling 57-yard run that set up the Tiger touchdown.

Field Goal Is Big Weapon In College Football Today

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The field goal has become the ultimate weapon in close football games this year as the college footballers have adopted the pros attitude that three points is better than a long-shot chance for six.

Almost two-dozen major college games have been decided by the field goal so far, with many crucial conference and prestige games still to come.

The trend toward increased use of the three-pointer began when the rule-makers widened the goal posts a few years back instead of moving them 10 yards forward to the goal line.

So far the Southeastern and Southwest conferences have been the key users of the field goal. Durwood Pennington of Georgia has won three games for the Bulldogs with his accurate kicking, one a 52-yard shot that beat Kentucky 16-15. This came after he had made one from 47-yards only to have a five-yard penalty nullify the goal and force his longer-range boot.

At Southern Methodist, John Richey kicks 'em barefoot if he has to. He beat the Air Force 9-7, breaking a 13-game victory drought for the Mustangs, with a 30-yard barefoot shot.

"The teams all are trying to protect themselves against the two-point situation," says SMU Coach Bill Meek. "And a field goal does it."

Greg Mather, Navy's fine end, beat Notre Dame 13-10 last week with a 22-yard field goal, his second of the game, and eighth of the year. He kicked three in one game, a 37-19 win over Detroit.

"Any time we get within shooting distance, he's a threat and shooting distance for him is anywhere across the 50," says Navy Coach Wayne Hardin of Mather. "That takes a lot of pressure off our quarterbacks."

Lakers, Royals Conquer Hawks, Knicks In NBA

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers are not going to rely on the other National Basketball Association teams to knock the St. Louis Hawks off their Western Division Throne. They aim to do it personally.

They took a major step in that direction Tuesday night, defeating The Hawks 127-110 behind the slick shooting of Elgin Baylor and Jerry West. The Cincinnati Royals downed the New York Knickerbockers 123-98 in the only other game.

Baylor scored 37 points and West 36 as the Lakers took a 3-game lead over Cincinnati in the Western Division. The Hawks dropped to third place. The St. Louis big three, Clyde Lovellette, Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan, did its share accounting for 73 points, led by Lovellette's 32.

The Knicks led early in their game with Cincinnati. But the Royals poured it on after tying it at 20-20. Jack Twyman had 26 points and Oscar Robertson 22 for the winners.

NBA Moves Sonny Liston To Top Challenger's Spot

CHICAGO (AP — "That's good, that's good, now I won't have to knock off that Britisher to get to that title."

This was Sonny Liston talking today after the National Boxing Association Tuesday restored him as No. 1 challenger for Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title in its month ratings.

In its previous ratings, the NBA had listed England's Henry Cooper as the ranking contender for Patterson's crown, ignoring Liston because of his most recent brush with the law. "Maybe I don't have to fight that Cooper now to show who's who," grinned Sonny, who doesn't grin easily. The NBA now rates Cooper fourth.

Liston, 28, has spent most of his bizarre career winning fights in the ring, losing scrapes outside the ring and never quite catching up with Patterson.

At the moment, he may be on the glory trail. He now goes to his "rehabilitation center" — to train for his Dec. 4 bout with Germany's Albert Westphal, a master baker from Hamburg. The Philadelphia bout will be part of a fistic TV doubleheader, also including Patterson's title defense against Tom McNeely in Toronto.

Liston, also rated the No. 1 contender by Ring magazine, not only has put himself in the hands of a new manager, George Katz, but also those of a Denver priest, Rev. Edward Murphy.

"I'm glad of a new chance and I hope to make the best of it," said Liston who was in Chicago for a Monday night exhibition with Chicago's Ernest Terrell.

"I think I've found a true friend in Father Murphy — and that makes a lot of difference after all the trouble I've been in," said the hulking Liston, who has won 32 of 33 bouts and knocked out 22 opponents.

Liston hasn't fought a regular bout since last March when he kayoed Howard King in Florida. Meanwhile, he had to unburden himself of connections which brought him before a congressional committee and also get straightened out once more after a brush with the law.

Minnesota Lineman Gets Top Honors

By JIM ROGERS

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—"I don't know what to say. I'm very grateful to everyone for helping me get such an honor."

That was end Tom Hall's reaction today after being named Associated Press Lineman of the Week for his play in Minnesota's 13-0 upset victory over Michigan State Saturday.

"It sure feels good," Hall continued in his soft-spoken manner. "Give the credit to Butch Nash, though. He's the one who has done the most toward my receiving this honor." Nash is Minnesota end coach.

Hall, tabbed by Minnesota coaches as one of the most underrated players in the Big Ten, was very instrumental in last week's victory, Minnesota's fourth straight in conference play.

He snared two passes in the Gophers' first touchdown drive, grabbed another as the Gophers penetrated Spartan territory in fourth period and then pounced on a fumble after that drive fizzled. The Gophers then went in to score the clinching touchdown.

Despite Hall's outstanding work on offense, it was his play on defense which contributed greatly to the Minnesota cause. He was constantly in the opposing backfield, harassing passer Pete Smith, and was a stone wall on end runs to his side.

GOP Sweeps City Offices At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Mayor Robert Harding led a Republican sweep of municipal offices in Tuesday's general election, according to complete but unofficial returns, but a proposed new 5-mill school levy was turned down by a slim margin of six votes.

Man, 75, Listed Fair After Train Hits Car

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —A 75-year-old Wood County man was in a hospital here in fairly good condition after a speeding Baltimore & Ohio passenger train smashed into his car.

Sheriff's deputies said Chester John Austin of nearby Tontogany pulled his car onto the track near here Tuesday and it was hit by the train which was going between 60 and 75 miles per hour.

The train sheared off one side of the car and traveled another quarter of a mile before it could stop. Austin suffered only minor abrasions.

There are no mechanical warning devices at the crossing.

You Can Build $30 Fallout Shelter

By PROF. WILLARD F. LIBBY

My $30 fallout shelter consists of a hole in a backyard hill, bags of dirt, and some railroad ties.

Anyone with a basement is lucky — he could build a shelter more easily, and perhaps more cheaply.

My costs were:

Burlap bags	$11.00
Nylon string and needle to sew bags	1.00
Railroad ties	9.00
Trucking in the ties	7.00
Zinc chromate to treat burlap bags	2.00
	Total: $30.00

I dug horizontally into the slope of the hill, and put the dirt in bags, using them to build walls 5 feet high on both sides to make an enclosure of about 4 by 6 feet.

Another wall in front, with an offset, provides a door. It's wide open. Radiation from fallout cannot go around corners—but people can to get in or out.

—:—

RAILROAD TIES are the roof beams, with a two-foot layer of dirt-filled bags resting on top. That gives 28 inches thickness of dirt and wood.

A corner of your basement would provide two ready - made walls with a few feet of dirt or sandbags piled up outside. Then build walls consisting of sandbags or concrete blocks 1½ to 2 feet thick, again with an offset entrance.

The roof and upper stories of a house would keep much fallout at a distance, but for sure safety the shelter needs a roof made of beams and blocks of concrete or dirt.

There is no limit to improvisations. Civil Defense offices can supply excellent plans.

The vital point is that lethal X-rays from intensive fallout are stopped by two feet of concrete, or anything with equal density or mass. Thus, it takes 10 feet of water or wood to do it, about two or three feet of dirt, but only two to three inches of lead. However, lead is very expensive.

A quick, life-saving emergency shelter could be fashioned by piling concrete blocks — or even stacks of books — on top and around a heavy table, placed in a basement corner, and getting under the table.

AN AIR FILTER for the shelter is a good idea, but not absolutely necessary. Some radioactive dust might seep in, but probably not in significant amounts through ordinary air circulatoin.

An essential item is a radiation meter. Unfortunately, effective ones still cost about $25. It is needed to tell you if seeping dust is reaching dangerous levels. If so, sweep it out with a broom. Fallout eventually becomes ordinary dirt. But you must avoid or get rid of it while it is radioactive.

The man with the expensive shelter could unwittingly track radioactive dust into his shelter on trips in and out, and so concentrate dangerous amounts, unless he knew about this hazard. So everyone needs a broom as well as a meter.

You should plan to stay inside your shelter at least 48 hours.

Suppose fallout descends an hour after the burst. In seven more hours, it is only 10 per cent as intense as it was when it first landed. And 49 hours after the burst, or 48 hours after landing, only one per cent of the initial radioactivity remains.

In the next 12 days, it declines to become only one-tenth of one per cent of the initial intensity. This is considered a safe level to permit moving about.

Forty-eight hours in a small, cramped shelter or hole is no picnic.

You might well take sleeping pills to help wait out the most critical period of fallout danger.

Legislators OK Financial Talks With Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Legislative leaders of both parties have agreed to discuss state financial matters with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle before the legislative session opening next Tuesday.

The governor said Tuesday he will meet Friday with Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R - Athens; House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan; Senate Minority Leader Frank King, D-Lucas, and House Minority Leader James A. Lantz, D-Fairfield. DiSalle said others may attend, including finance committee chairmen and members of both houses.

The session of the General Assembly was scheduled after the governor's unprecedented veto of second - year appropriations. Besides the budget, legislators are expected to consider a twice-defeated capital improvements measure and possibly a few other matters.

Finance Director James H. Maloon has told DiSalle the state may run out of cash temporarily early next year. The governor blamed the prospect on failure of revenues to meet estimates, tax exemptions voted by the last legislature and an end to the use of sales tax stamps after Dec. 31.

Maloon said doing away with the stamps will save the state money in the long run, but there may be a lag because retailers will no longer have to pay the tax in advance.

Economists Puzzled

Idea Rejected War Scare Curbs Consumer Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most government and private economists reject the idea that public fear of war and nuclear disaster has discouraged consumer buying.

Debate and discussion continue, however, and economists are still puzzled over the failure of retail sales to join in the broad and general rise of economic activity this year.

The same period has seen international crisis piled on crisis, including the Cuba invasion fiasco, Communist gains in Southeast Asia, the threat of war over Berlin, the breakdown of nuclear test ban talks and the pall of fallout from the new series of Soviet nuclear explosions.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and some professional economists tie these phenomena together. It is understandable, Hodges told a recent news conference, that "because of international conditions and . . . a little fear" consumers might defer spending for home appliances and other "big ticket" items.

A similar thought was tossed out by economist George Cline Smith. As outgoing president of the National Association of Business Economists, the New York consulting economist told the association last month in Chicago:

"If the economy is going to take off for the expected highs, consumers are going to have to get their heads out of the fallout shelter and act as through they think the economy is going to last for a while."

Government economists — though reluctant to be quoted by name especially when dealing with psychology instead of economics—admit they have considered this thesis seriously. Most of them don't endorse it.

A White House official admitted privately that consumer behavior has been puzzling administration advisers for months, but without any particular indication that fright was a factor.

There was some speculation within the government that scare buying and hoarding might follow President Kennedy's July 25 message on Berlin, this source said. The speech gave a somber picture of national peril, announced the muster of more troops to active duty, and called for a multibillion-dollar increase in military spending.

The scare buying didn't develop. A wave of interest in fallout shelters developed, but consumers kept right on socking a high 7 per cent of their disposable income into savings. Retail sales plugged steadily along at roughly the mid-recession rate.

Some economists see a possible explanation in the increasing percentage of income going into services instead of goods—services which are not reflected in the retail sales figures.

Others have looked for the explanation in the buyers' tendency —highly visible in the auto industry—to look for durability and longevity instead of frills. More economy models of washers, dryers and ranges are being sold.

This shift from "de luxe" models has prompted manufacturers to concentrate on the lower priced market, with the result that it takes a bigger number of sales to push up the dollar-volume totals, which the economists measure.

Council At Palestine Approves Dam Plans

EAST PALESTINE — Construction of an earthen dam on James St. Creek as a flood control measure, estimated to cost $6,000, was approved Monday night by Council.

Council authorized Safety Service Director George McGuckin to proceed with work on the dam to be located about two-tenths of a mile northwest of the city limits.

In other action, Council approved the tax rate established for the city by the County Budget Commission. The rate of 5.3 mills is the same as this year. It includes 2.7 mills outside the 10-mill limitation — for streets, park and City Hall bond retirement—and 2.6 mills inside the limitation — three-tenths of a mill for police pension and 2.3 mills for general operations.

All Repairs Covered

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Working atop his carport, Charley R. Miller said it suddenly occurred to him that such repairs were covered by his insurance. He quit working and started down the ladder, but slipped and broke an arm. The arm was insured too, he said.

DONNA EDGIN, 22, stands 6 feet in her stocking feet, and is a cloud-busting 8 feet, 5 inches in heels and new towering coiffure. The space needle hairdo represents the theme of Seattle's World's Fair.

The first area chosen for development of Peruvian leaders is east of Lima, the capital, across the mountains into the interior. There new farm and pastoral communities are to be created, new roads and railway links built and hydroelectric works installed.

Wells High Students To Give Comedy In Resuming Plays

Reviving dramatics art after a lapse of several years, Wells High School will present a play Thursday night at 8 in the auditorium at Newell.

The students will present "Beauty and the Beef," a three-act comedy with a cast of 25. George LaNeve is director.

The lead role of "Ginny Allen" is played by Janet Robison, with Richard Brenneman cast as "Beef," a star football player who is expelled from school.

Karen Simmons will play the part of the daughter of the high school principal. The plot centers around efforts of the student body to have "Beef" readmitted to school for a big football game.

Other members of the cast are Joe Hall, Susan McKenna, Ronald Moffitt, Richard Webb, Jennifer Allison, David Bell, Carolyn Robinson, Cassie Wells, Fred Ferrell, Keith Smith.

George Bourne, Linda Calhoun, Carole Wurzel, Maria Doane, Karen Duncan, Tom LeMasters, Linda Baker, Elizabeth Hupp, Edward Wiersbicki, Mickey Staley, Jim Reed and Richard Anderson.

The faculty committee includes LaNeve, Mrs. Ruth Shilling, Mrs. Naomi Robison and Miss Regina Wehner.

Tickets will be on sale at the door for 75 cents for adults, Principal E. Russell Slack announced.

Visit From Sisters

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Mary Bartlett, a coed at the University of Kentucky, brought some friends home for the weekend recently—86 friends. All were members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, of which Mary is president. The girls brought sleeping bags and mattresses and bunked in the five bedrooms of the T. J. Bartlett home.

'Power And Glory'—Achievement Or Flop?

"The Power and the Glory," CBS-TV's two-hour dramatic special last week, starring Sir Laurence Olivier, has evoked a storm of controversy.

Was it a monumental TV achievement or TV's most expensive flop?

The question was debated everywhere. The consensus was inconclusive. Few who saw the show were lukewarm in their reaction. One thing only seemed certain: the highly touted $700,000 David Susskind production rates as possibly the most controversial drama yet presented on TV.

-:-

INTERESTINGLY, the religious theme of the Grahame Greene story — a sodden, unchaste, corrupt priest's defiance of anti-clerical forces in a mythical Latin American socialist state — was only one of the sources of controversy, and in a way the least as far as TV circles were concerned.

Some critics said the production was a vast disappointment theatrically, that the advance press agentry erred in billing it as TV's "costliest" drama, that its poor quality of acting, staging, lighting,was a setback to the cause of TV drama.

Three people importantly involved in the show fiercely defend it, pointing out, among other things, that only half the $700,000 over-all cost was charged to TV; the other half was charged against expected revenue from overseas theatrical distribution of a movie filmed simultaneously with the taping of the production last spring for TV.

-:-

SUSSKIND HIMSELF unequivocally regards "Power and the Glory" as his greatest TV achievement, not excluding his acclaimed "Moon and Sixpence." He insists he can't comprehend the criticism and feels it harmed future efforts by him and others to bring strong drama to the home screen.

His fears in this regard, however, are not shared by Michael Dann, New York programming vice president of CBS, and Werner Michel, TV director of an ad agency representing one of the program's two sponsors.

"We were proud of it," Michel said. "And we hope this will encourage more sponsors to go into this kind of programming." He noted that "Power" pulled some audience away from "Bonanza," a pretty popular Western.

-:-

DANN WAS even more unreserved. Calling the show "an important event in the history of TV," he said that "any time Olivier and this cast want to do another show of this kind, CBS would like to be first in line."

Official Admits Pheasants Wings Were Clipped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state wildlife division official has admitted the 1,000 pheasants released Oct. 24 in the Lake Cowan area in Clinton County had had their wings clipped, but he said they were released because of a surplus on state game farms.

Dan Atzenhofer, wildlife supervisor of District 6, in which the released was made, termed the reported death off nearly half of the birds "a regrettable situation."

Searchers reported finding the remains of 483 pheasants killed by predators on the 1,000 - acre reservation.

Atzenhofer said the birds' wing feathers have to be clipped when they get to be six to eight weeks old to keep them in the state farms. Otherwise they will fly out of the enclosures and overpopulate the immediate area.

Thief Obtains Pair Of Rings Worth $1,000

A Little Building jeweler told police Tuesday afternoon a sneak thief posing as a customer walked out of his store with a diamond ring set valued at $1,000 and vanished onto nearby E. 6th St.

Robert Schlang, operator of Roberts Credit Jewelers, reported the theft to police at 12:18. Officers said they were unable to find any trace of the thief, who apparently walked east on E. 6th St. in the direction of Broadway.

Schlang told police it all started when the man walked into his store, pointed out the ring set in the display window, and said he was interested in purchasing it. The proprietor said he removed the rings from the window, the "customer" looked them over and said he would purchase the pair.

Schlang said he headed for his desk behind the counter to obtain a ledger to enter the sale. As he went behind the counter, the stranger walked out the front door. Schlang said he checked hurriedly, found the rings were missing from the counter, and went outside, but was unable to spot the thief.

He reported the theft to Patrolman Paul Lemal, desk officer at headquarters. Capt. Robert Pyle and Patrolmen William Devon and Floyd Heddleston investigated.

Schlang said the stolen rings are a wedding band and engagement ring combination, built to lock together on the wearer's hand. The total weight of the diamonds is 1½ karats. The setting is 14 karat white gold.

Schlang said the man was in his store only five to 10 minutes. The "customer" commented he had seen the ring set in the window on several occasions and would like to look at it closer, as he was thinking of purchasing it as a gift, Schlang related.

Because of the value of the ring set, it was removed from the display window at night and placed in the store's safe, Schlang related.

Thief Obtains Pair Of Rings Worth $1,000

A Little Building jeweler told police Tuesday afternoon a sneak thief posing as a customer walked out of his store with a diamond ring set valued at $1,000 and vanished onto nearby E. 6th St.

Robert Schlang, operator of Roberts Credit Jewelers, reported the theft to police at 12:18. Officers said they were unable to find any trace of the thief, who apparently walked east on E. 6th St. in the direction of Broadway.

Schlang told police it all started when the man walked into his store, pointed out the ring set in the display window, and said he was interested in purchasing it. The proprietor said he removed the rings from the window, the "customer" looked them over and said he would purchase the pair.

Schlang said he headed for his desk behind the counter to obtain a ledger to enter the sale. As he went behind the counter, the stranger walked out the front door. Schlang said he checked hurriedly, found the rings were missing from the counter, and went outside, but was unable to spot the thief.

He reported the theft to Patrolman Paul Lemal, desk officer at headquarters. Capt. Robert Pyle and Patrolmen William Devon and Floyd Heddleston investigated.

Schlang said the stolen rings are a wedding band and engagement ring combination, built to lock together on the wearer's hand. The total weight of the diamonds is 1½ karats. The setting is 14 karat white gold.

Schlang said the man was in his store only five to 10 minutes. The "customer" commented he had seen the ring set in the window on several occasions and would like to look at it closer, as he was thinking of purchasing it as a gift, Schlang related.

Because of the value of the ring set, it was removed from the display window at night and placed in the store's safe, Schlang related.

West Beaver Meeting Reset

The Western Beaver County Board of Education Monday night in the Ray W. Snyder School in Industry and set Dec. 11 for its reorganization meeting.

It had been scheduled Dec. 4 but was reset.

Official Admits Pheasants Wings Were Clipped

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state wildlife division official has admitted the 1,000 pheasants released Oct. 24 in the Lake Cowan area in Clinton County had had their wings clipped, but he said they were released because of a surplus on state game farms.

Dan Atzenhofer, wildlife supervisor of District 6, in which the released was made, termed the reported death off nearly half of the birds "a regrettable situation."

Searchers reported finding the remains of 483 pheasants killed by predators on the 1,000 - acre reservation.

Atzenhofer said the birds' wing feathers have to be clipped when they get to be six to eight weeks old to keep them in the state farms. Otherwise they will fly out of the enclosures and overpopulate the immediate area.

Exercise Demands Full Action

When it comes to calisthenics, action speaks louder than words. In fact, words seem flat and inert in conveying the streamlining action.

Ida Jean Kain

Time and again, women explain that they simply cannot get the gist of exercise instructions by reading them. Of course you cannot; the exercise must be acted out.

Set the stage by thinking of the measurement you want to slim down. Such concentration helps to direct the action, and as you feel the pull you know whether or not the exercise is reaching the right set of muscles.

Also the trick of visualizing reinforces the will-to-do, and this makes it easier for you to go in the direction you wish to go.

TODAY'S streamliners will be directed to the three figure controlling measurements — waist, abdomen, and hips. First a foolproof exercise to tone both the waist and the girdle muscles. This is my favorite toner - upper, yet it is the one you seem to have trouble in understanding.

Position: Kneel in an upright position with back straight, head erect. Then sit back on the heels. Hold arms out at sides, shoulder level. In this position, hips are held firm so there is no way to go wrong on this exercise.

Action: First pull-up-and-in with the girdle muscles and, keeping this firm grip, bend s-l-o-w-l-y sidewards to the right, trying to touch fingers of right hand to floor at right. Hold.

Come back to starting position, and bend sidewards to the left, touching fingers of left hand to floor at left side. Hold as you stretch on the bias. When you get the gist of this exercise you can raise hips slightly off heels so as to increase the action on the abdominal muscles.

Repeat exercise 6 to 10 times, alternating sides. Do it slowly, holding the muscle contraction.

The above exercise may sound difficult in words, but if you'll kneel, sit back on heels, and bend slowly sidewards...you've got it. And it does come to grips with the middle spread.

Now the side - bicycle to tone hip and girdle muscles.

Position: Lying on right side, both legs straight down. Position of arms is unimportant, except that if the palm of the left hand is braced on floor in front of chest, it's an aid to balance.

—:—

ACTION: Bring alternate knees briskly toward chest in a pedaling motion...the knees go up and down rhythmically like a piston. Pedal a dozen times, then change sides and continue. Changing sides helps wear down fat pad on each hip.

When you act out exercises, they really are surprisingly streamlining.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Away With Middle Spread" and "Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests, cannot be answered.

Man Kills Self After Wounding Woman Neighbor

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A 75-year-old man was killed and his next door neighbor was wounded late Tuesday in an apparent attempted murder and suicide, Lake County sheriff's deputies reported.

Chief Deputy Edwin Sill said Anton Wayner apparently killed himself after shooting Mrs. Frank Czentnar, 50, in the kitchen of her home. Mrs. Czentnar was reported in fair condition in Lake County Memorial Hospital East here early today with a gunshot wound in the throat.

Sill said Mrs. Czentnar found Wayner, who rented a house next door from the Czentnars, in her kitchen when she returned from shopping. The deputy said Wayner apparently shot Mrs. Czentnar, who ran to the street and hailed a passing motorist who took her to the hospital.

When deputies arrived they found Wayner dead on the kitchen floor in the Czentnar home, a bullet wound in his right temple and a .32-caliber revolver at his side.

Mrs. Czentnar's husband was at work when the shooting occurred.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Your Giving Affects Your Children

Around this time of year most large communities put on a single campaign for raising funds to be allocated among the various welfare agencies. When children share in giving to this fund from their allowances, savings or earnings, they can derive good moral values. During such a campaign, our children may derive much or little morally, according to what they hear and see in us. It's even possible for our children to lose much that is precious inside from observing our reaction to the fund-raising campaign.

Dr. Garry Meyers

If they hear us, in defense of our own selfishness, condemning some of the welfare organizations sharing the fund, criticizing some of the persons giving their time to solicit for this fund, or naming certain persons who don't give as much as we think they should, what effect will this have on them?

—:—

AND WHAT IF they see us giving grudgingly and stingily? Will they, too, grow calloused to the needs of other persons? Will they give sparingly toward community welfare when they are adults and parents themselves? Won't our ways and attitudes go on from generation to generation?

In contrast, how wonderful, while driving with our children by a hospital, home for the aged, or school for blind, deaf or crippled children, to be able to say, "We have a share in that wonderful place".

However generous you and I think we are in contributing to the community fund, we rarely are generous enough. The same holds true for what we give to our church or synagogue, local hospital and the like.

IF WE CHECK on how much we give for such services in terms of our physical comforts and expenditures on luxuries, we might conclude that our giving is very small indeed.

When we consider the good we may do with our contributions, we can derive great satisfactions from our giving. How wonderful when our children see us gaining such satisfactions, see us welcome the opportunity to share our possessions for doing good, believing in the teaching of our Lord and Master when He said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

My bulletin "The Very Selfish Child" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Minerals Add $303 Million To Ohio's Economy In 1960

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Production of coal, oil, gas and industrial minerals during 1960 added $303 million to Ohio's economy, the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations reported today in an annual report.

Miss Margaret A. Mahoney, department director, announcing publication of the report, said that with the bulk of the mineral output being used within the state, its worth as it comes from the ground "is expanded many times over through the production of electrical energy."

This, she said, was not only the case of coal but industrial minerals whose transformations carry into everything from the manufacture of dishes to construction of roads and highways.

Ohio's coal production, she said, is responsive to rising and falling trends in the industrial economy. The downward trend of 1960 resulted in the state's coal output falling short of that of the previous year by almost 1.5 million tons. Value of coal reported in 1960 was $129 million, while the calculated per-ton price was $3.81—two cents under that for 1959. Annual wages paid to production employes in 1960 by reporting operators, about $40 million, was more than $1 million under the 1959 figure.

Value of Ohio's 1960 gas and oil production was $25.5 million. Ohio miners of industrial minerals dug 79 million tons of material out of the ground worth close to $150 million. Production of sand, gravel, sandstone, limestone, clay, shale and gypsum was off from the previous year. Only salt production increased.

The report listed seven fatalities in Ohio coal mines in 1960, two in underground mines, five in strip mines. Seven fatalities were reported in pits and quarries from which industrial minerals are produced.

Pike Chief Issues Warning After Wreck

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—An auto-truck collision in which a Wisconsin couple was killed has brought a warning from James W. Shocknessy, Ohio Turnpike Commission chairman, that sleepy drivers had better take a nap at roadside.

Killed when their auto rammed into a truck near the Youngstown interchange Tuesday were Bernard W. Burgess, 48, a Milwaukee brewery executive, and his wife, Dorothy, 46. The highway patrol said Burgess apparently tried to swerve to avoid crashing into the truck but failed to clear it.

Shocknessy said there was evidence that the couple had been on the road nearly 14 hours.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Exercise Demands Full Action

When it comes to calisthenics, action speaks louder than words. In fact, words seem flat and inert in conveying the streamlining action.

Ida Jean Kain

Time and again, women explain that they simply cannot get the gist of exercise instructions by reading them. Of course you cannot; the exercise must be acted out.

Set the stage by thinking of the measurement you want to slim down. Such concentration helps to direct the action, and as you feel the pull you know whether or not the exercise is reaching the right set of muscles.

Also the trick of visualizing reinforces the will-to-do, and this makes it easier for you to go in the direction you wish to go.

TODAY'S streamliners will be directed to the three figure controlling measurements — waist, abdomen, and hips. First a foolproof exercise to tone both the waist and the girdle muscles. This is my favorite toner - upper, yet it is the one you seem to have trouble in understanding.

Position: Kneel in an upright position with back straight, head erect. Then sit back on the heels. Hold arms out at sides, shoulder level. In this position, hips are held firm so there is no way to go wrong on this exercise.

Action: First pull-up-and-in with the girdle muscles and, keeping this firm grip, bend s-l-o-w-l-y sidewards to the right, trying to touch fingers of right hand to floor at right. Hold.

Come back to starting position, and bend sidewards to the left, touching fingers of left hand to floor at left side. Hold as you stretch on the bias. When you get the gist of this exercise you can raise hips slightly off heels so as to increase the action on the abdominal muscles.

Repeat exercise 6 to 10 times, alternating sides. Do it slowly, holding the muscle contraction.

The above exercise may sound difficult in words, but if you'll kneel, sit back on heels, and bend slowly sidewards...you've got it. And it does come to grips with the middle spread.

Now the side - bicycle to tone hip and girdle muscles.

Position: Lying on right side, both legs straight down. Position of arms is unimportant, except that if the palm of the left hand is braced on floor in front of chest, it's an aid to balance.

—:—

ACTION: Bring alternate knees briskly toward chest in a pedaling motion...the knees go up and down rhythmically like a piston. Pedal a dozen times, then change sides and continue. Changing sides helps wear down fat pad on each hip.

When you act out exercises, they really are surprisingly streamlining.

Send a stamped, self - addressed long envelope for "Away With Middle Spread" and "Slim Hips In A Hurry." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests, cannot be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Your Giving Affects Your Children

Around this time of year most large communities put on a single campaign for raising funds to be allocated among the various welfare agencies. When children share in giving to this fund from their allowances, savings or earnings, they can derive good moral values. During such a campaign, our children may derive much or little morally, according to what they hear and see in us. It's even possible for our children to lose much that is precious inside from observing our reaction to the fund-raising campaign.

Dr. Garry Meyers

If they hear us, in defense of our own selfishness, condemning some of the welfare organizations sharing the fund, criticizing some of the persons giving their time to solicit for this fund, or naming certain persons who don't give as much as we think they should, what effect will this have on them?

—:—

AND WHAT IF they see us giving grudgingly and stingily? Will they, too, grow calloused to the needs of other persons? Will they give sparingly toward community welfare when they are adults and parents themselves? Won't our ways and attitudes go on from generation to generation?

In contrast, how wonderful, while driving with our children by a hospital, home for the aged, or school for blind, deaf or crippled children, to be able to say, "We have a share in that wonderful place".

However generous you and I think we are in contributing to the community fund, we rarely are generous enough. The same holds true for what we give to our church or synagogue, local hospital and the like.

IF WE CHECK on how much we give for such services in terms of our physical comforts and expenditures on luxuries, we might conclude that our giving is very small indeed.

When we consider the good we may do with our contributions, we can derive great satisfactions from our giving. How wonderful when our children see us gaining such satisfactions, see us welcome the opportunity to share our possessions for doing good, believing in the teaching of our Lord and Master when He said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

My bulletin "The Very Selfish Child" may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Minerals Add $303 Million To Ohio's Economy In 1960

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Production of coal, oil, gas and industrial minerals during 1960 added $303 million to Ohio's economy, the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations reported today in an annual report.

Miss Margaret A. Mahoney, department director, announcing publication of the report, said that with the bulk of the mineral output being used within the state, its worth as it comes from the ground "is expanded many times over through the production of electrical energy."

This, she said, was not only the case of coal but industrial minerals whose transformations carry into everything from the manufacture of dishes to construction of roads and highways.

Ohio's coal production, she said, is responsive to rising and falling trends in the industrial economy. The downward trend of 1960 resulted in the state's coal output falling short of that of the previous year by almost 1.5 million tons. Value of coal reported in 1960 was $129 million, while the calculated per-ton price was $3.81—two cents under that for 1959. Annual wages paid to production employes in 1960 by reporting operators, about $40 million, was more than $1 million under the 1959 figure.

Value of Ohio's 1960 gas and oil production was $25.5 million. Ohio miners of industrial minerals dug 79 million tons of material out of the ground worth close to $150 million. Production of sand, gravel, sandstone, limestone, clay, shale and gypsum was off from the previous year. Only salt production increased.

The report listed seven fatalities in Ohio coal mines in 1960, two in underground mines, five in strip mines. Seven fatalities were reported in pits and quarries from which industrial minerals are produced.

Man Kills Self After Wounding Woman Neighbor

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A 75-year-old man was killed and his next door neighbor was wounded late Tuesday in an apparent attempted murder and suicide, Lake County sheriff's deputies reported.

Chief Deputy Edwin Sill said Anton Wayner apparently killed himself after shooting Mrs. Frank Czentnar, 50, in the kitchen of her home. Mrs. Czentnar was reported in fair condition in Lake County Memorial Hospital East here early today with a gunshot wound in the throat.

Sill said Mrs. Czentnar found Wayner, who rented a house next door from the Czentnars, in her kitchen when she returned from shopping. The deputy said Wayner apparently shot Mrs. Czentnar, who ran to the street and hailed a passing motorist who took her to the hospital.

When deputies arrived they found Wayner dead on the kitchen floor in the Czentnar home, a bullet wound in his right temple and a .32-caliber revolver at his side.

Mrs. Czentnar's husband was at work when the shooting occurred.

Damage Suits Filed Against Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —Damage suits of $15,000 and $22,000 have been filed against the city of Bowling Green, charging improper operation of the city's new sewage treatment plant.

A firm of lawyers retained by property owners along Poe Ditch and Portage River estimates that similar suits planned should total around $170,000.

Pike Chief Issues Warning After Wreck

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—An auto-truck collision in which a Wisconsin couple was killed has brought a warning from James W. Shocknessy, Ohio Turnpike Commission chairman, that sleepy drivers had better take a nap at roadside.

Killed when their auto rammed into a truck near the Youngstown interchange Tuesday were Bernard W. Burgess, 48, a Milwaukee brewery executive, and his wife, Dorothy, 46. The highway patrol said Burgess apparently tried to swerve to avoid crashing into the truck but failed to clear it.

Shocknessy said there was evidence that the couple had been on the road nearly 14 hours.

Ex-School Teacher Gets State Board Post

CHARLESTON (AP) — Mrs. Eugene P. Bartram, a former school teacher who now operates a supermarket in Wayne County, was named yesterday to a nine-year term on the State Board of Education.

Mrs. Bartram, a graduate of Marshall University, was appointed by Gov. Barron to succeed Raymond Brewster, Huntington newspaper executive. Brewster, a Republican, had served for 20 years.

Mrs. Bartram is a Democrat and her appointment gives that party a majority of the nine-member board.

She is the second board member appointed by Barron. The other was Stephen J. Russek of Wheeling, also a Democrat.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband works for the city as a garbage collector. Last week he brought home a badly tarnished vase which he found in one of the refuse cans. He said he thought it looked pretty good and maybe I could clean it up.

I spent about two hours scrubbing and polishing it and the vase turned out to be truly beautiful.

I noticed some markings on the bottom and took the vase to an antique dealer to find out if the marks meant anything. The dealer told me the vase was a fine antique and he offered to buy it for $300. I refused to sell it because I was thrilled to own something so lovely.

Now my conscience is bothering me. My husband remembers the house where he picked it up. Do you think he has a moral obligation to return the vase — UNEASY.

Dear Uneasy: No. Trash cans are for unwanted articles. The condition of the vase is evidence that the owner attached no importance to it.

Occasionally a valuable article lands in the garbage can by mistake, in which case, of course, it should be returned. But it seems clear that this item was consciously discarded, so please enjoy it with no misgivings.

Spendthrift Wife

Dear Ann: I am the father of three children. My take-home pay is $88 a week.

I've worked hard for 25 years and have nothing to show for it. We don't even own our home. My wife goes on buying spells and our credit rating is terrible. She lies about having paid bills and then I get calls where I work.

I've always given her my pay check. She hands me 50 cents a week plus carfare. She gives each kid $2 a week because she says teen-agers need more money these days.

Yesterday the teacher of our 13-year-old phoned to say she had to take money away from him because he was playing with it during class. I'm fed up and I don't know what to do. Please suggest something.—TRAPPED.

-:-

Dear Trapped: A father who would let his wife hand him 50 cents a week while his teen-agers get $2 must be out of his head.

Tell your wife her handling of the money for the last 25 years hasn't been so hot so you're going to take over for the next 25.

Sit down together and work out a budget. Pay a small amount out of every check to each of your creditors. Tell them how you intend to pay in full and ask them to bear with you. And close those charge accounts so your wife won't be tempted.

Courageous Mother

Dear Ann: I'm 17 and miserable. My father died two weeks before high school graduation. He was sick a long time and knew he was dying. He made Mom and us kids promise we'd spend no time mourning.

Even though it was hard for me, three weeks after Daddy died Mom insisted I attend the prom and the senior class picnic. My older sister stood up at her best friend's wedding the following week.

My aunts and uncles are all mad at my mother. They say we are rotten daughters and that she should not have allowed us to do these things. They refuse to talk to her on the phone and she is left out of all family affairs. What can we do—GLD.

-:-

Dear GLD: Ignore the relatives. Your mother deserves credit for having had the courage to do as your father wished.

Woodpecker Pecks His Way To Freedom

HEPHZIBAH, Ga. (AP) — A determined woodpecker has pecked his way to freedom, but it took him 36 hours.

The woodpecker fell inside a 30-foot wooden column on the front porch of Randolph Dunbar's home. Some time later the Dunbars heard a big racket going on inside the column.

Finally a small hole appeared, and it gradually grew larger until the bird squeezed through and flew off. He had tunneled through more than two inches of wood.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about scorch stains on garments?

A. If not too serious or deeply burned, and if treated in time, some scorch stains can be nicely removed. On white shirts, sponge with a cloth dipped in peroxide, then iron again. Or, cover the spot with a cloth dipped in peroxide, put a dry cloth on top of that, and iron. On heavier materials, those containing wool, wet the areas with water, sprinkle cornstarch over them, and rub the cornstarch well in. When absolutely dry, brush the powder off.

Q. What can I do about some crayon marks made on some of my wallpaper by my "artistic" son?

A. Try sponging over these lightly with a soft cloth moistened with carbon tetrachloride. You may have to repeat this treatment several times for appreciable results.

Q. How can I protect some of my costume jewelry from tarnish, and also prevent it marking my skin?

A. By giving it a coating of colorless fingernail polish.

Dear GLD: Ignore the relatives. Your mother deserves credit for having had the courage to do as your father wished.

Woodpecker Pecks His Way To Freedom

HEPHZIBAH, Ga. (AP) — A determined woodpecker has pecked his way to freedom, but it took him 36 hours.

The woodpecker fell inside a 30-foot wooden column on the front porch of Randolph Dunbar's home. Some time later the Dunbars heard a big racket going on inside the column.

Finally a small hole appeared, and it gradually grew larger until the bird squeezed through and flew off. He had tunneled through more than two inches of wood.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about scorch stains on garments?

A. If not too serious or deeply burned, and if treated in time, some scorch stains can be nicely removed. On white shirts, sponge with a cloth dipped in peroxide, then iron again. Or, cover the spot with a cloth dipped in peroxide, put a dry cloth on top of that, and iron. On heavier materials, those containing wool, wet the areas with water, sprinkle cornstarch over them, and rub the cornstarch well in. When absolutely dry, brush the powder off.

Q. What can I do about some crayon marks made on some of my wallpaper by my "artistic" son?

A. Try sponging over these lightly with a soft cloth moistened with carbon tetrachloride. You may have to repeat this treatment several times for appreciable results.

Q. How can I protect some of my costume jewelry from tarnish, and also prevent it marking my skin?

A. By giving it a coating of colorless fingernail polish.
